EMPEROR WILLIAM HAS STARTED FOR THE LUTSK FRONT

From West of This Point to the Dneister Teutons Are Being Vigorously Attacked.

RUSSIANS CLAIM SUCCESS

Rumanians in Dobrudja Unable to Advance—They Make Gains in Transylvania.

With the Russians still vigorously attacking the Austro-Germans in Volhynia, west of Lutsk, and thence along the whole front to the Dneister in Galicia, Emperor William has started for the front of General von Linsingen, near Lutsk, where the principal fighting is taking place.

Reports are Conflicting.

At various places in this sector and in Galicia, Petrograd asserts that the Austro-Germans have been defeated. Berlin, however, takes issue with the Russian war office statement and declares that the only point where the Russians reached the Teutonic lines was north of Zubilno, and that here they later were driven out of the captured positions.

Rumanians Cease "Demonstration."

Although there is some divergence in the official reports from Sofia and Bucharest concerning the fate of the force of Rumanians which was thrown across the Danube into Bulgaria, the fact is patent, according to a Bucharest communication, that they have ceased their "demonstration." Bucharest adds that the Rumanians withdrew to the left bank of the Danube, but Sofia asserts that the battlefield in northern Bulgaria between Rustchuk and Turtukai, where they crossed the river, is covered with Rumanian dead as a result of their forced speedy retirement back to their own soil.

All the attempts of the Rumanians and Russians to advance in Dobrudja have been frustrated by counter attacks of the Teutonic allies. Thirteen cannon have fallen into the hands of the Russians and Rumanians in this region.

On Transylvanian Front.

In Transylvania, the Rumanians have captured, near Parajd, Austro-German fortifications after a battle that lasted three days. Near Bekokten ,north of Fogaras, and in the vicinity of the Hatszeg mountains ,the Rumanians are reported by Berlin as in retreat, but it is admitted by the German war office that the invaders have made another gain in the Orsova sector.

Allies Nearing Monastir.

Forces of the Entente Powers have driven their line to within 12 miles of Monastir, Serbia, and occupied the town of Buf. On the eastern part of the Macedonian front, the occupation of Yenikeui, near the Struma river, by the British is admitted by Berlin. Likewise, Berlin concedes the taking by the Entente forces of Nidje mountain, east of Monastir. The Italians have captured several additional towns in Albania.

Fighting in Turkey.

Considerable fighting has again taken place in Asiatic Turkey, where along the coastal region Russian land forces, in co-operation with their fleet, have made advances on a wide front, inflicting heavy losses on the Turks and capturing arms, ammunition and supplies, says Petrograd. Constantinople reports the repulse of the British in an attempt to advance along the Euphrates front near Nasiriyeh.

Little fighting except by the artillery of the belligerents, is taking place in the Austro-Italian theatre. A similar situation exists on the western front in France.

MONTAGUE AND KITCHIN AT THE FAIR AT ROCKY MOUNT

Thousands Attending First Fair Held by the Railroad Town.

Rocky Mount, N. C., Oct. 5.—With all regular and special trains bringing large crowds to this city today—and with the augmented crowd of the two days previous on account of the rain—the attendance at Rocky Mount's Maiden Fair today is indeed gratifying, despite threatening skies through a greater part of the morning. Ex-Governor Montague, of Virginia, arrived in the city last night and was met by a delegation of prominent citizens, while Congressman Claude Kitchin motored over this morning with a large delegation of fellow townsmen from Scotland Neck.

The midway, shows, exhibits, etc., cast off their depressive frame of mind with the shining of the sun this morning for the first time since the fair was opened, that is for more than a moment's duration, and everything is going in full blast. More than 6,000 people had entered the gates and were enjoying the festivities. There is a great big bill of free acts. The midway is well lighted and the shows are in full blast and hundreds are attending the midway attractions, some of which present real merit, while several as fun producers are real delight.

PLANS READY FOR BATTLE CRUISERS

Bids for Four Giant Warships for United States Navy to be Opened December 6th.

SOON CONTRACT FOR GUNS

Forgings For Each of the Larger Weapons Will Cost $60,000 and For the Smaller Ones $20,000 at the Rates Quoted.

Washington, Oct. 5.—Bids for the four giant battl ecruisers to be laid down next year, will be opened at the Navy Department December 6, virtually completing the work of getting the huge building programme authorized by Congress under contract. Admiral Benson, acting secretary, announced today that specificationes for the ships were ready for distributio nto prospective bidders.

Bids for the four battle cruisers, scout cruisers and other ships included in the programme will be opened October 25, plans having been sent out six weeks ago.

The department began the task of assembling armament for the battle cruisers today when bids for the forgings for twenty-four 14-inch rifles and ten 5-inch guns were opened. Each of the big vessels will mount ten 14-inch guns in her main battery and with provision for ten reserve guns. Fifty of these weapons will be contracted for within a few days. The Bethlehem Steel Company bid for the entire allotment of big guns at 35 1-4 cents per pound and the Midvale Steel & Ordnance Company quoted a rate of 35 cents for 12 guns only. The contracts will be divided between the companies. The bids show virtually no increase over the navy's last purchases.

The Crucible Steel Company was low bidder on the 5-inch forgings at 29 cents a pound.

On the ratings quoted the big forgings will cost $60,000 for each gun. Forgings for the small guns will cost $20,000 each. The weapons will be completed and mounted at the naval gun factory here.

Specifications of the battle cruisers were not made public.

GEN. R. M. NELSON STRUCK BY STREET CAR IN WASHINGTON

Goldsboro Man Badly Injured, But Probably Not Fatally.

(Specal Star Telegram.)

Washington, D. C., Oct. 5. — General Richard M. Nelson, a Confederate veteran, of Goldsboro, was badly injured today when he was struck by a street car while crossing the street near the home of his son-in-law Capt. E. P. Turner, on Ontario Road. His injuries are painful, but not necessarily fatal.

General Nelson was born near Goldsboro 74 years ago, and was graduated from West Point. He was one of the last officers from West Point to cast his lot with the Confederacy. General Nelson has one son in the regular army, Captain J. C. Nelson, who is now on teh Mexican border. P. R. A.

EMPEROR LEAVES TO VISIT TROOPS OF VON LINSINGEN

Berlin, October 5 (via London, October 6).—It is officially announced that Emperor William has left for the eastern front to visit the troops of General Von Linsingen, against whom the principal Russian attack is being directed.

TROOPS REMAINING IN CAMPS TO SOON MOVE

Will Start South When Transportation Can be Arranged.

Departmental Commanders Receive Orders from War Department. At Present There Are 104,000 Guardsmen on Border.

Washington, October 5. — All army departmental commanders were ordered by the War Department today to dispatch militia organizations still in state mobilization camps to the border as soon as they can arrange transportation facilities.

The orders affect only troops which have not seen service on the border, or about 8,000 men in Alabama, Georgia, Florida, North Carolina South Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia, West Virginia, Colorado, New Hampshire, New York and Mississippi.

War Department statistics show that there are about 104,000 militia now on the border. The 8,000 ordered south today will relieve a similar force which will be returned to their home stations for muster out of the Federal service.

While officials generally expect the entire militia will be withdrawn within a few weeks, no definite decision on this question has been announced. Secretary Baker, however, has said there would be no general redisposition of troops in the Southern Department until the American-Mexican joint commission, in session at Atlantic City, evolves some system of border control.

W. C. T. U. TAKES A STRONG STAND

Convention Resolves to Enter the Fight for National Legislative Prohibition.

STATE OFFICERS ELECTED

Three Cities Extend Invitations for 1917 Meeting—Delegates Named for National Convention in Indianapolis.

With all its members standing in a circle with clasped hands beneath the white ribbon, while their voices were lifted in the words of "God be With You Till We Meet Again," the 34th annual convention of the North Carolina Woman's Christian Temperance Union, which had been in session at the First Baptist church in Wilmington since Tuesday evening, came to a close last night.

The election of officers for the ensuing year, the naming of delegates to the National convention, the adoption of resolutions, and the receiving of invitations for next year's convention, were the principal features of yesterday's session. All the old officers were re-elected for another term.

Officers Re-Elected.

Yesterday morning's session was devoted chiefly to the election of officers. The officers re-elected were: Mrs. T. Adelaide Goodno, of Raleigh, president; Mrs. Mary E. Cartland, of Greensboro, honorary president; Mrs. Clay Foreman, of Elizabeth City, vice president; Mrs. Elizabeth Stevick, of Raleigh, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Mary E. W. White, of Guilford College, recording secretary; Mrs. Ellen J. Y. Preyer, of Greensboro, treasurer; Mrs. William Boettcher, of Elizabeth City, secretary of Loyal Temperance Union; Mrs. Charles G. Doak, of Guilford College, secretary Young People's Branch. Mrs. Goodno now begins her sivth year as Goodno now begins her sixth year as on her 12th year as the guardian of the Union's finances.

Mrs. J. B. Scarboro, of Greensboro, and Mrs. Goodwin, were named as delegates to the next annual National convention, which meets in Indianapolis. All of the State officers are members ex-officio of the National executive board. Each state is allowed one delegate for every 500 members. North Carolina has over 800 members, entitling her to two delegates in addition to the officers.

Invitations for the 1917 State convention were extended by Elizabeth City, Goldsboro and Bethel. The final selection will be made by the executive committee at their meeting in March.

Resolutions Adopted.

The committee on resolutions submitted the following list for the approval of the convention:

"With the realizing sense of our Father's goodness, We, the women of the W. C. T. U. of North Carolina, in our 34th annual convention, adopt the following resolutions:

"Resolved, That we go on record as favoring National Constitutional prohibition, and that we urge our Senators and Representatives to support this measure in Congress.

"Resolved, That we secure through the Legislature a law, setting aside a day as near as possible to the 28th of September, to be known as Frances Willard Memorial Day and that on this day instruction and appropriate exercises, relative to the prohibition movement be given.

"Resolved, That we make special effort to carry out the Prize Essay contest work, with reference to Scientific Temperance in all the schools.

"Resolved, That we make this a year of special effort to win the young people.

"Resolved, That we, through letters and petitions, urge Congress to pass the following measures: (a) Federal censorship of motion pictures; (b) Prohibition of liquor selling in Porto Rico; (c) Prohibition of liquor shipment to Africa.

"Resolved, That we will co-operate with Woman's Missionary Societies with special reference to the shipment of alcoholics into mission fields.

"Resolved, That we petition for legislation to prevent the use of the United States mails in advertising all liquors.

"Resolved, That realizing the need of a home for wayward girls, and as the building erected for the Old Ladies Home in Fayetteville is unoccupied, that this convention appoint a committee to investigate the matter and see if this Home cannot be utilized as a home for unfortunate girls.

"Resolved, That realizing the dangers to which our young girls are subjected, we petition our general assembly to raise the 'age of consent' from 14 to 18 years of age.

"Resolved, That the women of the convention of 1916, go on record as in sympathy with the anti-saloon league and all its work for the liberation of our nation from the grip of the liquor evil.

"Resolved, That we follow the plans of the National organization for National Constitutional prohibition."

With the exception of the resolution concerning the home for wayward girls, they were adopted unanimously. This latter resolution gave rise to a spirited debate, which finally ended with it being referred to the general State board for amendment or adoption.

Rotary Club Entertains.

At the conclusion of the afternoon session, the delegates and members of the Union were entertained by the Rotary Club, with a delightful automobile ride through the city of Wilmington, and New Hanover county. This ride was arranged by a committee under the direction of Dr. George K. Patterson.

The morning session, aside from the

NEW YORK POLICE USE NIGHT STICKS ON WOMEN RIOTERS

Wives and Relatives of Car Men Start Most Serious Trouble Since Strike Began.

ONE STREET CAR WRECKED

Riot Starts Following Speech by "Mother" Jones—Six Women and Three Men Jailed.

New York, Oct. 5.—Spurred on by the exortations of "Mother" Jones, labor agitator, three hundred wives and women relatives of striking street car men battled with the police late this afternoon in the most serious riot since the walk-out on the traction lines began a month ago. Night attacks were swung right and left by the police and many of the women were bruised. Scores of the rioters carried babies in their arms.

A crowd of strikers who had congregated around the uptown hall, where the meeting addressed by "Mother" Jones was held, entered the fray on the side of the women and was driven back the few patrolmen on the scene when an automobile load of policemen arrived. The reserves plunged into the midst of the struggling mob and wielded their clubs without mercy. When the rioters finally fled they left nine prisoners—six women and three men—in the hands of the police.

The trouble began when the women poured out of the hall where "Mother" Jones had exhorted them to "get the 'scabs' off the cars."

"You art too sentimental," she had cried, "staying at home thinking of dessa and trinkets when you ought to be out raising hel."

Trooping into the street, the women hooted and jeered at cross town cars in 86th street. Suddenly a chunk asphalt was hurled through the window of a car halted by a large automobile truck. This seemed to be the signal for a general attack on the car, and in less than a minute every window was shattered. A patrolman who was on tarike duty on the car escorted the forty or fifty passengers into the street and then charged alone into the crowd of jeering women. He was helpless, however, until assistance arrived.

Women Pull Men From Car.

Meanwhile the car was being wrecked as piece after piece of broken asphalt from a pile on the sidewalk was hurled at it. The motorman and conductor were los tt osight after several women clamored aboard the car and pulled them to the street. The men's clothing was torn, their faces scratched and bruised. It was not until the automobile load of reserves arrived that a semblance of order was restored.

London, Oct. 5 (11:57 p. m.)—The admiralty announces that the Cunard steamer Franconia, employed for transport duty, was sunk in the Mediterranean yesterday by an enemy submarine. The steamer had no troops aboard. Twelve men of the crew of 302 are missing.

The Franconia was 625 feet long, 72 feet wide and displaced 25,000 tons. when she was built she was considered one of the most comfortable steamers of the Cunard line.

PRESIDENT IS GREETED AT OMAHA BY LARGEST CROWD SINCE HE WAS INAUGURATED

City in Gala Attire All Day, and Enthusiasm at the Highest Pitch—Mr. Wilson Makes Three Non-Political Speeches, Discussing European War, Peace and American Business—His Appearance Gives Political Touch to Celebration.

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 5.—President Wilson discussed the European war, peace and American business in three speeches here today. He declared America is as ready to fight as any nation in the world but that its cause must be just. After the war, he said, this Nation must join a league of nations to preserve the peace of the world.

The President was cheered by thousands during the day. The size of the crowds and the enthusiasm shown far exceeded anything he has experienced since his inauguration.

Omaha was in gala attire for the day. The celebration, non-partisan in character and arranged by a committee made up largely of Republicans, was given a political touch by the presence of the President.

Starting with brief speeches to crowds in Iowa towns this morning, Mr. Wilson came here to deliver three speeches, attend a lunch and dinner, lead a parade for an hour and then review it; visit the National Swine Show, and hold several political conferences. He left tonight for Long Branch, N. J., where he will arrive Saturday morning.

President's Speech in Part.

President Wilson, in his speech at the Commercial Club, spoke in part as follows:

"One of the pleasures of coming into this western country is that so many things get started here, so many things by way of energy and initiative originate here.

"There was an advantage in those old days when there were no railroads. You were not then under the paternal oversight of the East. * * * And the railroads perhaps have not done you as great a spiritual service as they have material service.

"They have kept you in communications which you did not stand in need of, for you knew how to take care of yourselves.

"There are many circumstances that make one feel that the present state of the world is beyond measure tragical. And yet, my fellow countrymen, I believe that this great catastrophe which has fallen upon the world in the shape of war is going to do us in America, at any rate, a great service. It is going to oblige every man to know that he lives in a new age and that he has got to act, not according to the traditions of the past, but according to the necessities of the present and the prophecies of the future.

A Provincial Country.

"Ever since I was a lad, I have found myself puzzled by the circumstances that America concentrated her plans so much upon herself, and extended them so little to the large world. This has particularly struck me and must strike every student of our affairs in respect to our commercial policy. Only in very recent years have American merchants and American manufacturers studied the markets of the world. They have talked, their public men have preached about their domestic markets * * *.

"With what we boasted and believed—what I believe—to be the best business genius in the world, we had not even thought of using that genius outside of our own markets.

Must Now Serve the World.

"The extraordinary circumstances that for the next decade at any rate—after that it will be a matter of our own choice whether it continues or not—but for the next decade at any rate, we have got to serve the world. That alters every commercial question, it alters every political question, it alters every question of domestic development. The men who insist upon going on to do the old things in the old way are going to be at the tail end of the procession. The swing of our destiny has at last become as wide as the horizon. And the thing that we have to be careful about is that we do this thing in a new way.

Exports and the War.

"Sometimes we deceive ourselves by thinking that commerce of recent years has chiefly consisted in exports stimulated by the war. It will be well worth your while to look into the figures. Our exports have been about in this proportion: An increase in exports during these years of some two thousand millions expressed in dollars and an increase in the National wealth of forty-one thousand millions, twenty times the increase of our exports. Can an increase in our exports of two tohusand millions produce so stupendous an effect as to multiply itself twenty times in our national wealth? The fact is that the world has poured its wealth upon us by reason of the fact that we are at last waking up to the fact the the world nas need of the wealth that we possess and that, therefore, real business of legislation is to release these forces and to see to it that impediments new or old shall not be placed in the way. That is the reason it has been the studious endeavor of recent years to see to it that business men got rid of the belief which some of them had that the law was intended to restrain them and not intended to serve them.

"Big Business" and "Bad Business"

"Take the anti-trust laws for example. Until very recently, I venture to say, most American business men spoke of the anti-trust laws with a curse under their breath—just as men think of shackles, just as men think of being deprived of opportunity. And we heard a great deal of talk about big business getting no sympathy. That was not the trouble. Big business had plenty of sympathy, but had business ought not to have had any sympathy and what our laws stood in need of was the definition of what was good and what was bad. What they stood in need of was distinct expression of the idea that was back of them. That idea was merely this, unfair competition is intolerable. But if the competition is fair the scale upon which it is carried on is not only of no concern to the law makers but the bigger the scale the more splendid the result—always provided it is conducted with fairness and honor and openness.

Three Years of Preparation.

"Some of these days, gentlemen, when the great tides of business are running free in this country, you will look back upon the last three years and say: 'That was when the channels were dug for this great time.' As compared with the verdict of the next 25 years, I do not care a pepper-corn about the verdict of 1916, because I know how those laws were conceived.

"America is to be congratulated upon having achieved a business emancipation. Now it is up to you men and it is up to all business men in the United States to make something of it, and if it cannot be made something of, in this part of the country, in parts of the country where, like this, men have been accustomed to taking care of themselves, have been accustomed to planting states and cities, and making communities, and making communities tell with all the force of their intelligence, it cannot be done anywhere."

In Politics of the World.

The President's night speech follows in part:

"Until 1890 between us and the Pacific there were empty spaces. They were lines that represented a frontier and the tidal process of American history had not ceased. But the census takers of 1890 reported that they could not any longer draw any frontier within the United States. * * * And from that time to this, America has taken on a new aspect.

"It is not by accident, I take it, my fellow citizens, that only eight years elapsed before we got into the politics of the world. It was in 1898, you remember, that the Spanish war came.

"We had, as it were, touched a house of cards and it had collapsed and when the war was over we found the guardianship of Cuba, the possession of Porto Rico, the possession of the Philippines in our hands. And that frontier which no man can draw upon this continent in 1890 had bee flung across the sea 7,000 miles to the untrodden forests of some part of the Philippine Islands. Ever since then we have been caught inevitably in the net of politics of the world.

Duty of Americans.

"So what I want to present to you tonight, my friends, is the picture so far as I can of our present and future duty as Americans.

"Nebraska was once, as I have phrased it, the melting pot in which the various elements of America were fused together for the passage of American life. Now it is our great duty to fuse the elements of America together for the purpose of the life of the world.

"It would be reasonable to expect that some of the intensity of that process would center in communities like this. Inevitably, because of geographical reasons if no other. Those great central plains and valleys of the continent are unlike the states of either coast. On the Pacific influences are at work which constantly remind the people of that coast region of the confused and perplexed politics of the Orient.

GOETHALS, CLARK AND RUBLEE ARE SELECTED

Will Form Board to Investigate the Eight-Hour Law.

President Chose Members Early So That They Might Give Close Study to the Entire Railrond Situation.

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 5.—A formal announcement was made here tonight that President Wilson has selected Major General Goethals, Commissioner Clark, of the Interstate Commerce Commission, and George Rublee, of the Trade Commission, as members of the board created by Congress to investigate the railroad eight hour law.

While the law does not go into effect until January 1, the President desired the members of the board to give a close study to the entire situation.

General Goethals, who will act as chairman of the board, obtained the President's consent recently to resign as governor of the Panama Canal Zone. He arrived in this country recently with the understanding that he would not return to the canal.

Mr. Rublee was rejected once by the Senate as a member of the Federal Trade Commission, but is serving a recess appointment given him by the President. He is from New Hampshire.

The President has given detailed consideration to selection of the members of the board and administration officials said today that he believed he had collected a board which would investigate the eight-hour law with fairness to the public, the railroads and employes.

LIBEL ALLEGED IN SUIT ENTERED BY JEREMIAH O'LEARY

Democratic Chairman McCormick Served With Summons—$50,000 Damages Asked.

IS "HYPHENISM" LIBELOUS?

O'Leary Says He Wants to Know This, and Also to Find Out if He Has Been Disloyal.

New York, October 5. — Vance C. McCormick, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, announced late today that he had been served with a summons in a suit for $50,000 brought against him by Jeremiah A. O'Leary, president of the American Truth Society. Mr. McCormick said he had not been apprised, however, of the charges upon which the suit was based.

Mr. O'Leary, in a statement issued soon afterward, declared that his purpose in instituting the action was "to find out first whether hyphenism, so-called, is libelous; and, second, whether it is inconsistent with Americanism."

Resents McCormick's Statement.

Mr. O'Leary said he resented a statement attributed to Mr. McCormick, criticising him for sending an "insulting message" to President Wilson. In that message Mr. O'Leary criticised the President "for not enforcing American rights against Great Britain," and informed Mr. Wilson that he would not vote for the re-election of the President. Mr. Wilson replied that he would "feel deeply mortified to have you (Mr. O'Leary) or anybody like you vote for me," adding: "Since you have access to many disloyal Americans, and I have not, I will ask you to convey this message to them."

In the statement attributed to Mr. McCormick, appearing October 4, and upon which Mr. O'Leary said he based his suit for libel, the chairman of the Democratic National Committee was quoted as having commented upon the presence of Charles E. Hughes at the Union League Club reception Tuesday night, concluding with the statement that there could be no doubt about Mr.

O'Leary's Statement.

Mr. O'Leary gave out tonight the following:

"My purpose in suing Mr. McCormick is to find out first, whether hyphenism, so-called, is libelous, and, second, whether it is inconsistent with American-Hughes' position, because of his silence on the message sent to the President by Mr. O'Leary.

ism. I also sue him as a challenge to him to let an American jury decide whether a protest to the President because

NO NEW STEPS FOR PEACE ARE TAKEN

Washington Officials Can Foresee None Likely to be Taken in the Near Future.

THE MANY RUMORS DENIED

It is Believed That Any Movement for Peace at This Time Would be Resented by the Belligerents as Unneutral.

Washington, October 5. — No new steps to end the European war have been taken by the United States and so far as officials here can foresee, none is likely to be taken in the near future, according to an authoritative statement of the government's position obtained today in high official circles.

While no official professed to know what is in President Wilson's mind, it was declared that no preparations had been made for discussion of peace through the usual diplomatic channels, and that all the information gathered here seemed to indicate that such a move would be both useless and inadvisable.

Regarding the many rumors that the United States already had made mediatory advances to the belligerents during recent months, it was declared authoritatively that mediation had neither been offered by this goverament nor suggested to it from abroad. It was flatly stated that no new peace overtures at all had been made to any of the belligerent governments and that no belligerent government had indicated that such overtures would be welcomed.

While declining to be quoted directly on so delicate a matter, officials here are understood to be thoroughly convinced that any peace move at this time would be resented as unneutral and might impair the government's standing as a mediator when the time for action comes.

Mr. Lloyd-George's recent statements warning against peace moves have been Brooklyn, Oct. 5.—The champion Brooklyns wound up the National League season here today by defeating New York, 7 to 5. Manager Robinson gave his regulars a workout in the game, but had his recruits filling nearly every position when it ended. Appleton, who has worked little all season, pitched fine ball throughout, although he was touched for five singles, a triple and a home run in the seventh and eighth. Tesreau and Anderson were hit hard, the latter pitching only part of the seventh. Smith finished the game and did well.

The new champions leave on a special train for Boston tomorrow at 1 o'clock. They will be accompanied by several hundred fans to be known as the "Royal Brooklyn Rooters."

DAVIDSON HAS A STRONG FAST AND SCRAPPY TEAM

Davidson, N. C., Oct. 5.—The late football game with Virginia brought to light several facts. It showed that Davidson has one of the strongest, fastest, scrappiest teams she has had in years. It shows that she has a coach such as few other colleges are privileged to have. It shows that Davidson pep, famous in the past, must be here in double portion this year, since it can make a team "outplay both on offensive and defensive" a much heavier and more experienced team, for the last three quarters of a game. It shows, too, that Davidson is booked for a victorious season.

The student body is looking forward with a great deal of interest to the game Saturday with A. & M., in Charlotte. Coach Fetzer in an interview Monday afternoon declined to make any forecasts in regard to the game, but says that the squad will be in much better shape than they were for the Virginia game. The team has not been picked yet, but about twenty-five men will be taken to Charlotte.

UNIVERSITY SQUAD LEAVES TO PLAY PRINCETON SATURDAY

Chapel Hill, N. C., Oct. 5.—The University of North Carolina football squad of 26 men left here tonight for Philadelphia, where they will work out on Franklin Field tomorrow in preparation for the game with Princeton Saturday.

North Carolina supporters made no prediction of victory, but it was said that Coach Campbell was confident of holding the Tigers to a low score. The team was pronounced to be in good shape, and a line averaging 170 points in weight will confront Princeton when the game begins.

A. & M. LACKS FIRST-CLASS MATERIAL FOR BACK FIELD

West Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 5.—The contest with Roanoke demonstrated that A. & M. lacks first-class back field material. In Pierson, who made the longest run in the game with the Virginians, the Techs have the most promising freshman of recent years. His work on the offensive was a feature of the otherwise mediocre contest.

In preparation for the Davidson contest, which will take place in Charlotte on Saturday, Captain McDougall has been shifted from left end to fullback. Such a change will strengthen the team considerably on the offensive.

WHITE SOX TAKE ANOTHER GAME IN SERIES WITH CUBBS

Chicago, Oct. 5.—The American Leaguers made it two straight from their National League rivals today, winning 3 to 1. James Lavender weakened in the fourth inning.

The Nationals were saved from a shut-out when Mann's double and Williams' single netted a run.

CHARLES E. HUGHES TO SEE THE GIRST GAME AT BROOKLYN

New York, Oct. 5.—Charles Evans Hughes, Republican candidate for President, has made a request for a box seat at the first world series baseball game to be played in Brooklyn, it was learned here today. The Brooklyn club management has granted the request and a box back of third base was set aside for Mr. Hughes and his party. It is expected that the candidate will throw out the first ball.

Statistics Regarding Boston Players

New York, Oct. 5.—The American League representatives in the coming World's Series will be a veteran combination in every sense of the word, both in pennant and series championship play. In age and experience the Boston Americans are veterans who have been tried and proved winners in many a hard fought league and world's series drive. Taking the players on the club roster and without regard to those who will or will not figure in the battles with the National League standard bearers, it will be found that their average age is 27 1-2 years and their average years in professional baseball a trifle over seven. So far as their physical statistics are concerned it is shown that they average 174 pounds per man and in height 5 feet, 10 2-3 inches.

Strange as it may appear, but one player hails from Boston, the remainder of the team coming from all parts of the country to form the championship combination which won the American League pennant after one of the hardest fights in the history of the junior league.

The American League champion Red Sox of 1916 resemble closely the team which won the world's championship last year, but have lost three more of the small remaining group which triumphed over the Giants for the title in 1912. Speaker is gone; Ray Collins, the left-handed pitcher, has passed, and Jot Wood, "smoke-ball" pitcher of other days, is under suspension because of salary differences.

The age, weight, height and home of each player is shown in the appended tabulation as well as how he bats and throws:

SCRAMBLING STARTS FOR RESERVED SEATS

Women Vie With Business Men and Messenger Boys.

Probably More Persons Than Ever Disappointed This Year By Not Securing Seats to See the World's Series.

Boston, Oct. 5.—Seekers of reserved seats took on the appearance of bleacher crowds today in the scramble for reservations for the world series baseball games, which begin here on Saturday. They swarmed about the ticket offices at Fenway Park, in lines broken often by the eagerness of some enthusiast to obtain earlier possession of tickets. Women and staid business men vied with messenger boys and others in their effort to gain prominent places in the line.

No actual disorder developed, but the police were called upon to re-form lines and club employees endeavored, unsuccessfully, to placate disappointed applicants who clamored for answers to their written requests for seats.

The rush for reservations was a result of a new system, made necessary this year, President J. J. Lannin, of the Boston Americans, explained, because of the late date upon which the American League race was decided. By this system, successful applicants were assigned a number calling for tickets, of a certain class, without a definite designation of the seats as in other years. Those first in line obtained the better seats as they were distributed by the ticket sellers, and it was to obtain this advantage that applicants sought the leading places in the lines.

In all probability, club officials agree, more persons have been disappointed through failure to receive tickets this year than ever before. Hundreds of requests have been refused.

An indication of the number of refusals was shown in the statement today of a man who speculates in such tickets that he had caused 18 letters to be written, each asking for two seats, and had received word to date of the granting of only three of these applications.

The police patrol of the ticket lines is rigorous, and those soliciting or selling tickets are first warned away, and then arrested if they persist.

One arrest was made today. Private detectives are said to be in touch with the distribution of large blocks of seats furnished to municipal offices, the police and fire departments and various public service companies, to be certain that none of these blocks is turned to private profit.

Because of their delay in obtaining world's series tickets, some of the players missed a train for Worcester, where part of the team played an exhibition game with the Philadelphia Americans. Others delayed their appearance for practice at Braves field for the same reason. It was said some of the players had experienced trouble in having all their ticket wants satisfied.

The season at Braves field, which Manager Carrigan directed, was a limbering up affair in which everybody seemed to take it easy.

To friends in Worcester, Captain Jack Barry said his recently broken hand was still weak and that he was doubtful whether he would be able to play in the big series.

DR. HERTY IS TO LEAVE THE STATE UNIVERSITY

To Become Editor of Chemical Journal at $6,000 a Year.

Resigns As Head of Chemical Department at Chapel Hill—Elected President American Chemical Society Twice.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Chapel Hill, N. C., Oct. 5.—The news of the resignation of Professor Charles Holmes Herty as head of the chemistry department of the University of North Carolina came yesterday as a great surprise to students and faculty alike. Doctor Herty will become editor of the Journal of Industrial and Engineering Chemistry, New York City, upon the resignation of Prof. M. H. Whitaker, of Columbia University, the present editor.

This is one of the leading chemical journals of the country, and as its editor Dr. Herty will have an opportunity to do much constructive work in his chosen field. For this reason the University has reluctantly granted his resignation. All of his time will be devoted to editorial work in connection with this journal. He is to receive therefor a salary of $6,000.

Professor Herty has been at the University for 11 years, having come here in the fall of 1905. He was formerly professor in the University of Georgia, then served two years as expert with the Forestry Division of the United States Department of Agriculture. He received his Ph. D. degree from the University of Johns Hopkins, and has besides devoted considerable time to chemical research abroad, in Berlin and Zurich, Switzerland. As head of the University Department of Chemistry he has built it up and added to its facilities as well as prestige, until it is the equal of any in the South.

But it is not merely as a professor in the University that Doctor Herty has distinguished himself. He has long been known as one of the leading industrial chemists of the country. The Herty cup for extracting turpentine, invented by him, has alone saved the South $13,000,000 annually, according to a statement in the World's Work. He has made of the chemical laboratory here a clearing house of chemical problems affecting the industrial development of th eSouth, and has carried on extensive experiments in rosin making, rare earth investigations, the study of dye-stuffs, and in certain other highly important fields.

The election of Professor Herty two years ago to the head of the American Chemical Society, an organization embracing in its membership 8,200 of the country's foremost chemists, came as a well-merited honor. His administration of its affairs has been one of unprecedented activity. His special training enabled him to render most effective service at a highly critical time in the nation's affairs, chemically speaking.

Dr. Herty had the signal honor of being elected president of the Chemical Society for a second time—an honor which has come to him alone.

MR. W. M. SLEDGE KILLED WHILE 'POSSUM HUNTING

A. C. L. Bridge Superintendent Loses Life in Sampson.

Lived at Warsaw, Where He Was Well Known and Highly Esteemed. Wife and Children Survive. Funeral at Enfield.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Clinton, N. C., Oct. 5.—While out 'possum hunting with some friends last night near Elliot, six miles from Clinton, Mr. W. M. Sledge, bridge superintendent of the Wilmington division of the Atlantic Coast Line, was killed. The 'possum hunters cut down a tree. In falling, it struck the branches of a near-by tree, deflected from its expected course and one of the limbs caught Mr. Sledge. He was given a terrific blow in the breast, which killed him almost instantly.

Within a few minutes after the tragedy the body of the dead man was taken to his home in Warsaw, where a wife and children awaited his return. From Warsaw the remains were taken to Enfield, near which place Mr. Sledge will be buried. Mr. Sledge was well known and liked in Clinton, where his railroad duties often took him. He was a man of some 50 years of age and had a good reputation as a railroad man.

CRANMER AT WINTER PARK

Democrats of Winter Park Section Hear Senate Nominee From Tenth District in Rousing Address.

Mr. E. H. Cranmer, of Southport, Democratic nominee for the State Senate from the Tenth district, which includes New Hanover and Brunswick counties, was the main speaker at a successful rally of the voters of the Winter Park section, held last night in the Winter Park schoolhouse.

L. Clayton Grant, Esq., Democratic nominee from New Hanover county to the State Legislature, also made a short address in which he outlined the policy he would follow in his work in that body.

Mr. Cranmer will address the voters of Seagate and rich ity at 8 o'clock tonight at the Seagate school building. It is expected that a large crowd will turn out to hear him. He will be escorted to Seagate by a delegation of Democrats from the city proper.

At the meeting last night, C. C. Cashwell, Esq., secretary of the county executive committee, presided, and made a short address. The speaker of the evening was introduced by Maj. Jos. W. Little.

In the course of his address, Mr. Cranmer pointed with pride to the wonderful record made by the present Democratic administration in Congress in the passage of important constructive legislation, and defended the policy President Wilson had adopted with reference to Mexico. He particularly streesed the great benefits which had already resulted from the passage of the Federal Reserve Act which makes money panics impossible; and declared that the Farm Loan Act would be the means of giving farmers throughout the country the privilege of borrowing money at reasonable rates with which to extend their operations and purchase additional equipment.

Subscription cards are being printed and every Democrat will be given the opportunity of contributing to the Wilson-Marshall fund. Mr. W. A. McGirt states that contributions will be sent for if the donor will only call him or other members of the executive committee over the phone and adds that contributions can be sent to Messrs. W. A. McGirt, D. H. Howes, Jr., C. C. Cashwell, Joseph E. Thompson and Thomas E. Cooper. These gentlemen compose the executive committee.

LIKE FINDING MONEY.

J. Hicks Bunting Drug Co. Offer Popular Medicine at Half Price.

J. Hicks Bunting Drug Co., the popular druggists, are making an offer that is just like finding money, for they are selling a regular 50 cent bottle of Dr. Howard's celebrated specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia at half price. In addition to this large discount they agree to return the money to any purchaser whom the specific does not cure.

It is quite unusual to be able to buy fifty cent pieces for a quarter, but that is what this offer really means, for it is only recently through the solicitation of the J. Hicks Bunting Drug Co. that this medicine could be bought for less than fifty cents. They urged the proprietors to allow them to sell it at this reduced price for a little while, agreeing to sell a certain amount. The result has justified their good judgment for the sale ha sbeen something remarkable.

Anyone who suffers with headache, dyspepsia, dizziness, sour stomach, specks before the eyes, or any liver trouble, should take advantage of this opportunity, for Dr. Howard's specific will cure all these troubles. But if by any chance it should not, the J. Hicks Bunting Drug Co. will return your money.

MAUDE ADAMS COMING HERE

Famous American Actress Will Bring Company to Wilmington For Play. Contracts Signed Yesterday.

That Maude Adams, the famous American actress, is to bring her company to Wilmington this winter will be an announcement of great interest to the people of this city. Manager George W. Bailey, of the Academy of Music, yesterday signed a contract for securing this attraction, believing that the theatre-going public in this city will appreciate an attraction of this high class.

Maude Adams has seldom been seen on the stage outside of New York and Philadelphia, but she is to make a short tour of the South this winter. She will play only in the larger cities however, and Wilmington people may count themselves fortunate that she has been booked for this city.

Miss Adams is recognized as the peer of any American actress and by many of the foremost critics is regarded as the greatest stage artist in this country.

Miss Adams was born in Salt Lake City, Utah, and in her childhood days appeared in children's parts in the West. When only 16 years old, she came to New York to join the company of E. H. Sothern, who is retiring from the stage this winter, and played in "The Midnight Bell."

Later she was a member of Charles Frohman's stock company, which toured the country. She played with John Drew in "The Masked Ball," and in 1908 appeared as Lady Bobbie in "The Little Minister." The following year she took the part of Juliet in Faversham's Romeo. She also played the part of Miss Phoebe in Barrie's "Quality."

It is in "Peter Pan" in which she first played in 1906 that Miss Adams has made her greatest reputation.

It is not known just what will be the attraction in which Miss Adams will appear in Wilmington, but the fact that she is to appear here is a sufficient guarantee that a large audience will be present.

NEW POSTOFFICE NAMED

Mr. William O. Shepperd is Appointed As Postmaster of New Office.

Snug Haven is the name of a new postoffice for New Hanover county, according to Washington dispatches, and Mr. William O. Shepperd is named as the postmaster. This office is a new one and will serve the people in the vicinity of Villa View and Wrightsville. The office will be maintained at the home of Mr. J. O. Hinton.

Postmaster H. McL. Green was asked several weeks ago to make an investigation and to report his findings to the Washington authorities. Heretofore the people living at Wrightsville have had no postoffice facilities nearer than Seagate and this will be much more convenient for them.

Warsaw, Oct. 5.—The department of domestic science, put in the town school for the first time this year, is doing good work under the efficient management of Miss Reba Meaders, of Williamsburg, Ky. She has a class of more than thirty young housekeepers o fthe future to whom she is teaching cooking, sewing and other household tasks.

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

Look Young!. Nobody Can Tell If You Use Grandmother's Simple Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, for about 50 cents.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire dark hair and a youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

MEASURES TO RELIEVE CAR SHORTAGE URGED

Corporation Commission Issues Circular to Shippers.

They Are Urged to Eliminate Delays in Loading and Unloading and Roads to Expedite Movement. Charters Issued.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 5.—It is being brought to the attention of the Corporation Commission by both shippers and railroad officials that there is a shortage of freight cars not only in this State but throughout the country that may become very serious, and the commission has just issued a special circular, No. 215, that is to have very general distribution in the State.

The commission assumes that the car shortage is developing on account of heavy movements of grain at this season and brings to the attention of the carriers and the shippers the necessity for close supervision of methods of loading, unloading and moving cars to secure the fullest possible use of available equipment. The commission asks that shippers secure the most prompt and fullest loading of cars and consignees their prompt unloading and release. They are urged not to use cars for storage and not even avail themselves of the full limit of free time provided by the tariffs.

The commission calls on carriers to make every endeavor to eliminate delays and expedite the movement of shipments and return cars promptly to the home lines and supervise operations at terminals closely. It is urged that there will be great assistance in averting serious shortage in close cooperation between shippers, shippers' associations and the carriers.

A charter was issued today for the Sanatorium (Inc.), of Winston-Salem, capital $25,000 authorized and $6,000 subscribed by J. C. Stewart, J. H. Phillips and George Miller Hinshaw for operating a hospital and training nurses.

An amendment for the charter of the Little River Manufacturing Co., of Willardsville, N. C., provides that the authorized capital shall be $100,000 and that paid in $60,000. J. B. Mason is president.

MRS. M'CLELLAN IS AGAIN EATING BOILED CABBAGE

Was Sick In Bed When Husband Brought Her Tanlac. Now She Is Strong and Can do Her Own Housework. Gained Two Pounds.

"For over three years I was a victim of indigestion," Mrs. W. J. McClellan told the Tanlac Man, "and I had to give up eating boiled cabbage, boiled foods of any kind, in fact, and I also had to quit drinking coffee, for all of them affected me. I was very bilious and suffered from malaria. Doctor's medicines failed to relieve me and finally I had to take to bed. Four days after that I started on Tanlac for my husband knew people in the neighborhood who were helped by it.

"Now I can eat anything I care to and it agrees with me; I am much stronger and can do my housework; I am not a bit nervous; I can hardly get enough sleep and really feel like an entirely different person. My heart doesn't flutter any more and I do not suffer from attacks of dizziness. And, from the first bottle of Tanlac, I gained two pounds. Of course, I recommend Tanlac for it has proven a fine medicine and something everybody ought to take for a system purifier and strength builder," ended Mrs. McClellan, who lives at 1307 North Caldwell street, Charlotte.

Tanlac is sold in Wilmington exclusively at the Bellamy Drug Store; Acme, Acme Store Co.; Burgaw, C. L. Halstead; Southport, Watson's Pharmacy; Rocky Point, A. N. Rhodes & Co.; Supply, G. W. Kirby; New Bern, Bradham Drug Co.; Magnolia, W. L. Southall; Faison, Faison Drug Co.; Pembroke, G. W. Locklear. Each town has its Tanlac dealer.—adv.

VICTIM OF SUBMARINE

Former Employe of Mr. T. E. Cooper Meets Death on English Steamer.

According to reports from Mullins, S. C., Lee Crawford, a Mullins negro, son of Tom Crawford, superintendent of Mr. Thomas E. Cooper's Mullins plantation, lost his life when the British steamer Algerina was torpedoed by a German submarine.

Crawford was employed on the Algerina, which is a cattle boat, as a laborer. He was a native of Mullins, and is survived by his parents, wife and child. It is rumored that the death of Crawford, who was an American citizen, may bring about complications with Germany.

NO PROSPERITY HERE.

Business in the Recorder's Court Suffers a Slump.

While a great many people are talking about the wave of prosperity that is sweeping over the land, there is one enterprise in Wilmington that is not feeling the effects of this prosperity. This is the Recorder's court.

In the days of hard times and pessimistic views, the fees at the court were fat and juicy, but now with prosperity on tap, this business has taken a lull. There was only one case before Recorder Empie yesterday and it was postponed so that the lone miscreant would not feel so lonely and conspicuous.

NOVEL SUIT BROUGHT.

Recovery is Sought for Drowning of Colored Boy in Quarry.

Proceedings were instituted yesterday in the Superior Court by the issuance of summons in the case of Frank Dodd, colored, administrator of Luther Dodd, colored, who was drowned in the rock quarry last June, against Adrian Rhodes and others, the owners of the quarry.

The complaint has not been filed in the case yet, but according to counsel for the plaintiff, recovery for the death of the boy is sought on the alleged ground that the owner permitted persons to use the pond and did not have a railing to protect it. The plaintiff is represented by Woodus Kellum and J. C. King, Esqs.,

TOP O' THE MORNING.

Only the dreams are real,
The false facts fade and die;
The rare rose-lipped ideal
Defies eternity.

Only the dreams are real,
Only the dreams endure;
Let thy soul's white ideal
Be ever true and pure.

What has become of O'Leary, anyhow?

And the Irish have always had the reputation of being quick at repartee!

Right now it seems very opportune to ask, "Where is that line of German under-sea freighters?"

The Bulgarians have taken Mkakakiafat, but the linotypes are apt to do more to it than its captors.

Teddy had to warm things up to prevent Hughes and Fairbanks from bringing on a killing frost.

"Hughes in Seclusion"—Headline. Getting used to the monotony which will be his after November 7th.

The Hon. Frank Ananias Linney is what State Treasurer Lacy as good as calls the Republican candidate for governor.

We imagine Professor Taft and Colonel Roosevelt were 100 per cent gladder to let go each other's hand than they were to grasp it.

Those who are for Wilson are ready with a good reason; those who support Hughes will give an excuse for it—if pressed.

Billy Sunday is in New York, it is announced. Billy surely is now on the right track of the diabolical personality that is causing all the devilment.

If Hughes is defeated he will know the cause of it. Therefore, it is useless for any one to remind him that his greatest obstacle to the presidency resides at Oyster Bay.

Two gentlemen who have had a misunderstanding ought to shake hands before the sun goes down but if they have been robbing or villifying each other they are not the kind to shake hands.

"The record is the reason" why Henry Ford and numbers of other Republicans of renown are supporting Wilson in this campaign. Those men know what they are doing and why they are doing it.

Says the New Bern Sun-Journal: "Wine, women and song are said to have caused an Atlanta, Ga., man to commit suicide." A man with robust mentality would leave it to the wine and the song to commit suicide.

When Bulgaria and Rumania entered the war the news editors had further cause to be thankful that they do not have to pronounce the names they handle. That's the silver lining to the dark cloud of almost futile effort to get the names in the papers properly spelled.

EDISON FORESEES THE END OF POVERTY

Mr. Thomas A. Edison predicts that "there will be no more poverty in a hundred years." This shows that he is satisfied that there is no more chance for the Republican party to restore its policy of making the rich richer and the poor poorer. Poor Kansas ought to be glad that the prospects are so bright.

In the heydey of Republicanism the price of wheat went down to 33 1-3 cents a bushel and the farms of the wheat growers in Bleeding Kansas were plastered all over with mortgages. At that time the Kansas people imagined they were intelligent, so they blamed their one-crop disaster on the Republican party and made up their minds to be Populists. Populism promised them more money than Carter had oats, but Populism failed to deliver the wealth. It was held in clutch under a national Republican banking system which controlled the supply of money in a way that it could not be mobilized to meet the needs of the people—especially one-idead people who grew nothing but wheat.

In those melancholy days Wall Street used the money to gamble in wheat and other things, so that mobilizing money to move the wheat crop and relieve the grain glut in Kansas did not enter into the top of Wall Street's head. Kansas blamed it on Wall Street, but the street was looking out for itself. It did not have to look out for Kansas. Wall Street's business always is to look after Wall Street. The Street always has had its own game to look after, but Kansas didn't suspect it.

It was the business of the Republican government to look after Kansas and see that she could get money to move her crops, but the Republican money system was in control of Wall Street, so the Republican administration was about as impotent as Kansas. Instead of blaming Wall Street, however, Kansas should have blamed an effete, ineffectual and inadequate Republican banking system. Nevertheless, Kansas abandoned Populism and went back to Republicanism. The Republican party had always boasted that it was doing great things and it also has made lots of promises about what it was going to do, but it confined itself to boasting when times were good and making excuses and promises only when times of depression swept over the country.

Probably the Kansans are much more intelligent than they used to be. They ought to know now that the only party which promises things and does what it promises is the Democratic party. The Democratic administration never promised to give money or prosperity to the people, but it did promise them a banking system that would enable the people to do business and create their own prosperity. Under the Democratic banking system, the country's money can now be mobilized in a jiffy to move the wheat crop in the West or to move the cotton crop in the South. The people know now that the Populists could not carry out their promise of plenty of money and that the Republicans couldn't or wouldn't, but they now know that the Democrats have done it, and that is all there is to it for sensible people to observe.

The Democrats have known all along that what this country needed was a flexible banking system that would furnish plenty of money with which to do business. They once promised the "free and unlimited coinage of silver" along that line—an honest promise that was impracticable. The Democracy acknowledges its errors, but it goes on trying to fill the bill till it turns the trick. It has been turned under the administration of Wilson. If a man now has the assets or the products there is money at his command so he can make his own prosperity, according to his own energy, industry, thrift and intelligence.

The old adage still holds good that "a man is the architect of his own fortune," but the Republican party has always fooled the people into believing that the G. O. P. was the architect of everybody's fortune and was the creator of prosperity. Republicans still claim that in spite of the fact that they butt into economic facts like a billy goat butts into an old wall.

The people ought to know now that production and the demand for production causes prosperity—the law of supply and demand—but it is not due to any promise or any claim of any party. The people ought to know that by now, but they also ought to know that there can be no buying and selling to advantage and no general prosperity without the means of doing business all over the country. That means is money that can be so easily mobilized under a Democratic banking system that a money stringency in any quarter of the United States can be relieved by the simple act of the Democratic administration of the Treasury Department.

That money, of course, is mobilized where there is a demand for it, and it goes wherever there is production, for there is no need of it in any section where there is no production. Money would not flow into a desert region, but it does flow to the cotton growing and wheat producing regions where there is the selling and buying that helps the producers.

The Republican party has enabled its tariff beneficiaries to become rich and prosperous, but it took Woodrow Wilson and the Democratic party to extend the benefits of wise and wholesome legislation to everybody in every quarter of America. Maybe Mr. Edison forsees a hundred years of such beneficent Democracy, and we surely hope he is a true prophet.

People who hope for geenral prosperity, that which is diffused all over the country where there is production, certainly should trust to the Democracy for it, instead of to the Republicanism which made special interests prosperous and amazingly rich by means of the government aid that comes out of all the people.

ENTERPRISING BUT A MISFORTUNE.

It is curious how a stroke of enterprise that deserves commendation really is a misfortune, when all the circumstances are considered. Enterprise like that is thus chronicled by the Atlanta Constitution under the head of "Livestock Service Improved by the Southern":

"Cattle, hogs and sheep are now being grown in the South to such an extent that the Southern Railway has found it necessary to establish a daily fast livestock service from points in Western North Carolina, East Tennessee and Southwest Virginia to Eastern and Southern markets and to Virginia feeding grounds; and from Alabama points to the St. Louis, Louisville and Cincinnati markets. This is in addition to the daily fast service from St. Louis to Atlanta to handle the inbound movement of horses and mules for the southeastern and Carolina territory.

"Stock from points in Western Carolina, East Tennessee and Southwest Virginia will be consolidated at Asheville and run in special trains for feeding, watering, and resting stock. Stock for the St. Louis market will be concentrated at Birmingham and move to St. Louis on the special livestock trains of the Mobile & Ohio railroad.

"The special service from St. Louis to Atlanta is in connection with the Mobile & Ohio, leaving St. Louis 6 P. M., arriving Birmingham 6 P. M. next day; leaving Birmingham over the Southern at 7 P. M., arriving Atlanta 3 A. M., giving a through run without necessity for feed stop en route. From Atlanta special fast service is provided over the Southern to points in Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina and Florida."

That is splendid service, to be sure, but the South actually ought to deplore the fact that the enterprising Southern Railway is running fast trains to take away the South's cattle, hogs and sheep to far away packing house markets, when the meat shortage is so severe that Chicago "backband" is being retailed to hungry Southerners at 20 cents a pound. It is a queer sort of economy for a country to send away its cattle, hogs and sheep at a low price on the hoof and buy back meat products at three times the price of the hoof product. That kind of economy will have to be stopped, if the South does not want to drain itself of both its livestock and money.

The Southern Railway is not to blame, of course. It is we who are to be blamed, especially the cities which have it in their power to reverse that economy by establishing local packing house plants. That would stop the outflow of our meat animals, stop the inflow of meat, and stop the larger outflow of money. That is one case in which the outflow of money for packing house meats is three times greater than the inflow of money for meat animals freighted away.

Worse still is the fact that we are shipping away our meat animals at a low price and buying farm animals from other states at the highest price. We are soft snaps, of course. Ask other states if that is not what we are.

If the South's farmers are raising a surplus of cattle, hogs and sheep, they are compelled to have a market, hence the Southern Railway is doing something to their advantage when it furnishes them a daily stock service to carry their meat animals to distant markets, where they sell at a low price because of the long haul that the animals have to endure. However, the cities which are consuming large amounts of high priced packing house products cannot afford to let the South's meat animals be freighted away. Their remedy is to establish packing houses so they can keep Southern cattle at home and keep Southern money at home.

There's Asheville letting them make a stock distributing point of her, when it doubtless is a fact that consumers in the Mountain City are looking two ways for Sunday on account of the prices they are paying for beef, hams, bacon, and the whole packing house line that is supplied to Asheville. They are paying freight both ways—freight on the hoof going and freight on the meat coming.

Wilmington is going to quit that sort of business. It is not business, but it is folly of the most ruinous and unjustifiable description. Slaughter houses in the South will not only save money for Southern consumers but it will build up and sustain a profitable livestock industry on Southern farms.

THE HOW OF A HOWLER

The how of a howler is past finding out, but you are liable to butt into a howler most any time, else he will make it a point to butt right into you. However, a howler ought to know better. We guarantee that no howler will go where there is howling, and we may as well say that nobody will go where there is a howler.

For the love of Mike, a howler ought to have something to howl about when he howls, for howling scares people away. What man is there who would venture into a deep forest if there be howling going on anywhere in it? The first thing which he would suspect would be a wolf, so he would fight shy of some sort of woods for fear he might run up on the howler or the howler might run up on him. It is not safe to go where there is howling. If not, why not?

Well, there are more howlers besides wolves, because there are calamity howlers who make people timorous and who really ought to be afraid of themselves. We mean the class of man whose job it is to howl, and whose habit it is to look after the howling while he lets others look after his town. One or two howlers can scare more people and caused them to lose their nerve than all the boosters of a town can put nerve into by their optimism, courage and determination.

A man in any town, it matters not where it is, must do more for his town than do the howling for it. Men may as well acquaint themselves with the fact that their town is not supposed to do something for them, but, on the contrary, they have to do something for their town. That is the gospel truth. The more that men do for their town the more it will do for them, and so also the less a man does for his town the less it can do for him. The town isn't on the job. It's the people in it who are on the job for themselves and their town.

"The gods help those who help themselves," so it is, therefore, that a town helps those who help themselves. They certainly can't help themselves by howling, neither can their town be hiped by their howling. When a town is made helpless by its howlers, how can it help its howlers?

When a man sidles up to us and howls more than once, it reminds us of a boy who wants to keep on showing his sore toe. Showing a sore toe once is too many, but we once knew a kid who showed his to all the boys so often that it came very nearly never getting well. It never benefitted the lad's toe to show it, so it was waste of time to exhibit his worse specimen. He had nine good toes to show, but, nuh! he never showed a one of them. He disobeyed the rule, "Always put your best foot forward."

Wherefore, howlers who howl once ought to be ready to quit. They can't mend things the least bit by howling, any more than a boy can mend his sore toe by exhibiting it to admiring spectators. Some of the best citizens of a town do nearly all its howling, but a good citizen ought to be too good to howl.

If you can't boost don't knock, because constant knocking would loosen up every shingle on a house. If the roof leaks, knocking will not stop the leak. Doing something for the roof will stop the leak. Mending things by doing things and bettering conditions by bringing about better conditions is the job that live men ought to tackle.

Don't knock. Nothing needs a knock. If it is in a bad fix already, knocking will make it worse. If something really needed knocking it would be different, but the things that don't need knocking need boosting.

What is your town doing for you? Nothing? What are you doing for your town? Knocking? Well, that makes it even, and just about what you would expect. Knocking gets nothing and knocking is doing nothing but nothing. Good night!

CURRENT COMMENT.

"How do you do?" asked Bill of Theodore. "How do you do?" inquired Theodore of Bill. But neither waited for an answer, for each was thinking of the days when his effort was to "do" the other.—Raleigh News and Observer.

Major Charles F. McKesson, a Republican from way back, a Blaine elector and all that, is going to vote for Wilson and in a lengthy article to the Observer tells why. He gives good reasons, as will become apparent to those who read what he has to say. The Major has come to these conclusions after having tried hard to persuade himself to vote for Hughes and keep his party record straight. "But," he says, "I feel that there are occasions when men should rise above party and yield to dictates of conscience." There are no doubt other Republicans in North Carolina who feel the same way about it, but they lack the courage displayed by Major McKesson.—Charlotte Observer.

The contest in New York between the milk distributors and the milk producers, which has nearly caused a milk famine in the greatest of American cities, makes obvious once more the necessity of some compulsory process of arbitration by which the public may be protected from the effects of such ruthless and heartless struggles. This milk battle, in a limited area, serves as an illustration of what would have happened in the country at large, not only with respect to milk, but with respect to all necessaries of life, if a general railroad strike had occurred. The New York milk producers have virtually gone on a strike, with very serious consequences to the millions of people dependent on their service. If President Wilson had not intervened for the protection of the country and kept the trains running, 100,000,000 people might by this time have been plunged into dire suffering. Another thought that is suggested by this war against babies and sick people is that unions are not the only selfish classes in the world. The farmer is generally a kindly person, but in this case he acted as the railroad brotherhoods threatened to do. We do not say that he did not have a just grievance. But he would not wait for the slow processes of the law or of arbitration to give him his rights. There appears to have been nobody in New York to intervene for the protection of the public as the President did in the railroad controversy. Selfishness is a human, not a class trait. Every class is ready on occasion to adopt the Vanderbilt motto, "The public be d———." For that reason the public should be supplied with a bit by which it can restrain the hurtful exhibition of primitive passions.—Baltimore Sun.

Clinton, N. C., Oct. 5.—There was general rejoicing in the county when cotton reached 16 cents per pound one day recently. The farmers are not holding any cotton back, as they seem to be willing to sacrifice their product at such prices as now obtain. It is no unusual thing now for a bale of

SCHOOL PROGRESS IN SAMPSON.

Over $25,000 Spent in Improvements During Past Year.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Clinton, N. C., Oct. 5.—County Superintendent L. L. Matthews, of Sampson, stated in a recent conversation to your correspondent that during the past year over $25,000 worth of improvements were made in the public school property of this county. He said that this was more than the total valuation of all public school property in Sampson ten years ago. This is regarded here as an effective answer to the charge of some men who are seeking to discredit the Joyner educational regime in North Carolina. Superintendent Matthews is regarded as one of the staunchest supporters that Dr. Joyner has in the State.

HOW TO REDUCE YOUR WEIGHT

A SIMPLE, SAFE, RELIABLE WAY.

People who are over-burdened with superfluous fat, know only too well the discomfort and ridicule that over-stout people have to bear.

If you are carrying around five or ten pounds of unhealthy fat you are unnecessarily weakening your vital organs and are carrying a burden which destroys the beauty of your figure.

There is no need of anyone suffering from superfluous fat. If you want to reduce your weight in a simple, safe and reliable way, without starvation diet or tiresome exercise, here is a test worth trying. Spend as much time as you can in the open air, breathe deeply, and get from Elvington's Pharmacy, or any good druggist a box of oil of korein capsules; take one after each meal and one before retiring at night.

Weigh yourself once a week, so as to know just how fast you are losing weight, and don't leave off the treatment or even skip a single dose until you are down to normal.

Oil of korein is absolutely harmless, is pleasant to take, and helps digestion. Even a few days' treatment has been reported to show a noticeable reduction in weight, footsteps become lighter, your work seems easier and a lighter and more buoyant feeling takes possession of your whole being.

Every person who suffers from superfluous fat should give this treatment a trial.

HIGH TRIBUTES PAID TO LIGHT INFANTRY

Banquet Given In Honor Of Captains Bailey and Lynch

Handsome Token of Esteem Presented to Retiring Commander—Addresses By Col. Taylor and Others Feature Occasion.

A hundred stalwart citizens gathered at the W. L. I. Armory in Wilmington last night to pay tribute to Capt. E. P. Bailey, retiring commander of the Wilmington Light Infantry, and Capt. J. B. Lynch, his successor, the occasion being the annual banquet of the military organization, whose honored history dates back to 1858 when the first company was formed.

Invited guests representing the various civic and commercial organizations paid tribute to this company in warm words of praise, every speaker voicing the sentiment expressed by Col. Walker Taylor, a former officer of the company, that there has never been and probably never will be a more beloved organization in Wilmington.

It was an occasion fraught with pleasant memories by members of the Reserve Corps of the company, while the 56 members now in active service listened to words of encouragement from those of maturer years that will inspire them in the future to render an even more loyal service than they have in the past.

It was 8 o'clock when the members of the company and their guests sat down at the long tables for the banquet after the invocation by the chaplain of the company, Rev. W. E. Cox, rector of St. John's Episcopal church, and for an hour they enjoyed the sumptuous repast which had been prepared under the direction of Mrs. John T. Rankin.

Gift Is Presented.

Mr. John L. Galloway, president of the business organization of the W. L. I., who performed the duties of toastaster in a most acceptable manner, after expressing the deep appreciation that he and his comrades felt for the splendid and efficient service rendered by Capt. E. P. Bailey during the three years he had been commander, presented the latter with a handsom signet ring, suitably inscribed. The presentation was a touching scene for it revealed the strong ties that bind men together when they have been associated together in hard and arduous service. Captain Bailey was greeted with vociferous applause as he rose to speak.

It was when he was a very small boy, said Captain Bailey in accepting the gift from the company, that he first had an ambition to be commander of the W. L. I. The company was in encampment at the old Seaside Park and Capt. John Daniels was in command. As he had gazed upon the gorgeous uniform of the latter he was filled with admiration.

"When I became captain of this company in 1913," Captain Bailey declared, "it was one of the happiest moments of my life. The associations have indeed been most pleasant. We have had in the trying experiences but I am glad to say that we have never had any quacksliders and every man has always been ready to go. While for business reasons I have had to retire, I am just as ready to help now as I have ever been. We are going to need a new armory and I hope to help in getting one. Of course, I appreciate this token of your esteem more than words can express. I shall always keep it."

In presenting Capt. J. B. Lynch, Toastmaster Galloway declared that he was a worthy successor to Captain Bailey. Amidst applause the new commander expressed his appreciation of the honor conferred upon him or rather thrust upon him, as he was appointed and not elected.

He thought that Captain Bailey was mistaken about getting his military ambition from Capt. Daniels and believed that it really was Napoleon Bonaparte, who had inspired him in this direction as he had noticed a bronze figure of the noted general on his friend's desk.

Military Force Needed.

The neecssity of having a strong military force was emphasized by Captain Lynch, who pointed out that upon the breaking out of the European war this country was in the same class, so far as an army is concerned, with Belgium and China. Although Switzerland is a small country, it has a strong army and as a consequence no army dared march across its borders. Congress, realizing the need of a strong army, has made provisions for enlarging the regular army and for getting the National Guard on a higher standard.

"We used to pay to get into the National Guard," he added, "but now we get paid for our services and more is expected of us than in former days."

"The volunteer system has been proven a failure," he explained, "and should the United States go to war in the future every man between certain ages would be subject to military duty. We have a National Guard which is a training school and it will be its members who will hold the commanding positions."

Captain Lynch pointed out that the W. L. I. now has only 55 enlisted members and that he was authorized to recruit it up to 108 men. He appealed for support from both old and young.

Are Ready to Help.

Mr. Roger Moore, president of the Rotary Club, declared that in his opinion the W. L. I. was never more ably commanded than now and that not only Captain Lynch but also Lieutenants Holmes and Fillyaw are most capable officers, while the personnel was never better. He assured the members of the company that the Rotary club stood ready to support every organization for the betterment of the city.

Military life has always been recognized as a necessity and never more so than in this age, Mr. Marcus W. Jacobi, president of the Chamber of Commerce, pointed out and the W. L. I. has always stood well in the community. The most essential thing in life is character and this organization has always emphasized this as well as physical fitness, as a necessary qualification, he added, and it is entitled to the support of every citizen. He approved the idea of having larger quarters and thought it the duty of the State to provide them.

DR. OWENS TO SPEAK HERE

Shipping Corporation Head Will Make Address on Plans to Link China and the South.

Dr. Clarence J. Owens, president of the Chinese-American Exchange company, a shipping corporation which proposes to inaugurate a general mercantile trade between China and American ports, and Mr. David S. Rose, general counsel for the company, both of Washington, D. C., will come to Wilmington on Wednesday, October 11th, by special invitation of the local Chamber of Commerce, and will deliver informal addresses at a smoker to be given at the Chamber Wednesday night at 8 o'clock.

This company was only recently organized, but as the shipping corporation proposes to link China with many of the leading ports of the South, including Wilmington, the announcement of its organization has aroused great local interest. The general offices of the company will be maintained at the Southern building, in Washington. The company is headed by Dr. Owens, managing director of the Southern Commercial Congress, and is understood to have the active backing of that organization. Its board of directors include Senator Duncan U. Fletcher, of Florida, and Senator Hoke Smith, of Georgia, as well as many others with wide experience in trafic and transportation matters.

The Wilmington Chamber of Commerce is actively interested in the proposition to establish regular sailings from this port to Chinese ports and has been in correspondence with President Owens for some time past. In his letters to the Chamber here, he stated that on the occasion of his visit to Wilmington he would make a full and detailed explanation of the plans his company will carry out in the near future.

MANY TO ATTEND RALLY

First Annual Event of Boy Scouts Will Celebrate Growth of Organization From One to Ten Troops.

Fully 300 members of the ten troops of Wilmington Boy Scouts counting their mothers and fathers and friends and patrons of the local organization, are expected to attend the first annual rally which will be held tonight at 8:30 o'clock under the auspices of the local Council, Boy Scouts of America, at the Young Men's Christian Association. The general public is cordially invited to attend the rally, which includes an elaborate programme of addresses and demonstration work by the members of the various troops.

The growth in membership and activities of the Scout organizations in Wilmington has been phenomenal during the past year. On January 1st of last year there was only one troop with a membership of less than 20 organized. Since that time nine additional troops have been organized, the aggregate membership of the ten troops now being 124. There are at the present time 12 volunteer scout masters giving their time to forwarding the important work of the organization in Wilmington.

The following serve as scoutmasters to the various troops: C. Walton Johnson, B. B. Cameron, Rev. Eugene deF. Heald, Rev. J. E. Reynolds, John S. McEachern, Wm. T. Murphy, Rev. Father Louis Bour, H. E. O'Keef and Ben Houston.

The address of welcome tonight will be delivered by President B. A. Merritt, of the local Council. Rev. Dr. John Jeter Hurt, pastor of the First Baptist church will deliver an address on the subject of "The Boy Scout of Today." Mayor P. Q. Moore, of Wilmington, will speak on the subject of "The Citizen of the Future," and Mr. H. E. Longley will make an address on "The Camp of Tomorrow."

One of the most important moves to place the work of the local organizations on a stable basis in Wilmington has been the recent organization of a local Council to oversee all phases of the work. Plans are being made by the Council for the establishment of a large summer camp at Lake Waccamaw and financing of the maintenance of an office with an experienced man in charge. The members of the Council follow:

President, B. A. Merritt; vice president, John J. Blair; secretary and treasurer, Swift M. Boatwright; scout commissioners, Odis B. Hinnant Messrs. H. E. Bonitz, W. R. Doshe, D. H. Howes, Jr., N. M. McEachern, Raymond Hunt, J. N. Jacobi, H. E. Longley, J. B. Huntington; S. A. Mathews, Dr. Thos. B. Carroll, Dr. G. K. Patterson, Dr. J. B. Sidbury and Col. Walker Taylor.

The demonstrations by the troops will include life-saving and resuscitation methods, diving and a swimming race between the members of the various troops.

MANY VACANT HOUSES.

Number of Desirable Houses and Apartments Are for Rent.

There are still many houses and apartments in Wilmington for rent, according to the real estate agents, and anyone desiring a home for the winter should have no trouble in finding a suitable place. While there are quite a number of the better houses for rent, the largest number vacant just now are of the cheaper kinds.

There was not more moving this year than usual, but practically all of the permanent residents of the city are now settled for the winter. The renting agents still have calls for houses, however, and no doubt before the winter season has arrived most of the houses will be occupied.

RESPECTED COLORED MAN DEAD.

Alex. Sampson Passed Away Wednesday Morning After Long Illness.

Alex. Sampson, one of the most respected colored men of the city, passed away at his home, No. 910 Wooster street, Wednesday morning, after an illness of several months. Funeral services were conducted yesterday afternoon from St. Mark's P. E. church, colored.

Alex. was about 60 years of age, and until recently was a carrier at the Wilmington postoffice. He is survived by his wife and a large family of sons and daughters. He was a member of one of the best known colored families in Wilmington.

IT HAS HELPED WILMINGTON

Mr. W. W. Love Believes Advertising City Has Received From Packing House of Great Benefit.

That the advertisement Wilmington has received by the visits of the business men of the city in the surrounding territory in the interest of the packing house is largely responsible for the increase in business here recently is the opinion of Mr. W. W. Love, who attaes that his firm has received orders which he is confident would not have come here had it not been for the meetings recently in the neighboring counties.

"The talks by Wilmington business men with farmers in the nearby counties," says Mr. Love, "has brought us closer together and I believe to a certain extent has stimulated business. While cotton and tobacco are selling for high prices, still the shortage in the crops will largely offset this and I doubt if there is much more money being placed in circulation than is usually the case at this time of the year.

"However, our getting together to discuss mutual problems has resulted in a better feeling and there is in evidence a desire to co-operate that I believe will prove mutually helpful."

Mr. Love stated that the five teams now canvassing the city in the interest of the Carolina Packing House Company are meeting with fair success, but on account of the unfavorable weather this week but few people have been seen. However, the campaign will be pushed from now on. The remainder of the week will be spent in the city and next week the committees will make canvasses in the surrounding country.

The farmers throughout this section are deeply interested in the proposed plant and many subscriptions are being received by mail. There is need, however, for more large subscriptions and it is hoped that the business men of the city will get steadily behind the proposition and push it to a success.

OPEN REGISTRATION BOOKS

Chairman Woodward Explains Law as to Keeping Polling Places Open on Saturdays—Polling Places.

The registration books of the 13 different polling places in New Hanover were opened yesterday morning and a number of voters who were not eligible at the last registration of electors had their names entered upon the books.

Secretary C. C. Cashwell and the members of the County Executive Committee are very anxious that as large a registration as possible shall be duly recorded, so that no citizen who is otherwise entitled to cast a ballot at the forthcoming election shall be deprived of the opportunity through failure to attend to this important matter.

Chairman C. W. Woodward, of the Board of Election, called attention to the fact that while the books are open and persons may be registered daily for the next 20 days, exclusive of Sundays, the law does not require that the polling places shall be kept open except on each Saturday during the period of registration. In accordance with the law, the registrar will attend with his registration books at the polling place of his precinct, or ward, for the registration of voters.

It is pointed out that at the first convenient opportunity, it is the duy of voters to inquire of the registrar by telephone, by seeing him on the street, or by calling at the polling place on Saturday, whether or not his name is on the registration books. On Saturdays only the polling places will be open from 9 A. M. until sunset during the registration period. The final day of the registration period falls on October 28th.

The election precincts and polling places have been fixed by the New Hanover County Board of Elections as follows:

First War—Engine House, Fourth and Campbell.

Second Ward—Court House, (down stairs.)

Third Ward—Giblem Lodge.

Fourth Ward—Mills' Stables, 108 Dock street.

Fifth Ward, first precinct—Engine House, Fifth and Castle.

Fifth Ward, second precinct, Engine House, Sixth and Castle.

Sixth Ward—Mann's Store.

Seven Mile Post—Shepard's Store.

Masonboro—Lumsden Store (Whiskey Sreek).

Federal Point—Burnett's Store.

Winter Park—Humphrey's Store.

Sea Gate—Rogers' Store.

Cape Fear—Johnson's Store.

MANY NOVEL FEATURES.

Unique Attractions Promised in Buffalo Bill Show in Wilmington.

Many novel features are promised for the Buffalo Bill-101 Ranch Wild West Show, which Wilmington is to see for two performances on Monday, October 16th.

Push-ball, with contestants afoot and on horseback, is strongly featured this year, a fact which is said to be justified by the rough-and-tumble character of this exciting contest. The Indians, who are led by the noted Chief Flying Hawk, are, it is announced, more picturesquely and effectively employed than in other years. All the Indian braves are utilized in the attack on the pioneers' camp; they give a genuine buffalo hunt, and they illustrate their native ghost, white-dog, green corn and other aboriginal dances.

In the stage-coach hold-up, as well as in the reproduction of the attack on Columbus, N. M., there are Mexican vaqueros and soldiers, both Villaistas and Carranzaistas, and they give an interesting color to the lively picture. A troop of Cossacks, with their small ponies and high saddles, interestingly contrast the method of riding in vogue in the Russian Caucasus and the Western plains.

The announcement is made that Col. Wm. F. Cody (Buffalo Bill) will be in the saddle at both performances and will actively participate in the great military spectacle, "Preparedness," which is this season's biggest feature, as well as in the preliminary free street parade which takes place at 10:30 on the morning of show day.

MAN-EATING SHARK CAUGHT

Mr. John W. Liles Brought in Monster at Wrightsville Beach—Fishing Now Very Good.

Fishing off the pier at Wrightsville Beach is reported to have been unusually good yesterday and many disciples of Izaak Walton journey thither for a day's catch, some of which were large, according to returns made last night to the New Hanover Fishing Club.

The storm along the coast the past several days seems to have driven the fish in and anglers took advantage of the condition all along the coast. A phenomenal catch yesterday was a 200-pound, man-eating shark, something over seven feet long, by Mr. John W. Liles, of the Atlantic Coast Line, after an hour and a half in playing the monster to the beach. That the shark was evidently following the school of fish towards the beach was evidenced by the fact that upon being dissected by Mr. Liles and some of his companions five flounders were found within him. The shark was brought in with an ordinary line.

Among those who enjoyed a few hours' sport from the pier during the afternoon were Mr. and Mrs. Jos. A. Braum, of New York, Mr. Braum being here on a business trip for the John P. Murray Co., of New York, and found it impossible to resist the call of the rod and reel. They both made excellent catches.

COUNCILMAN MERRITT ILL.

Friends of Councilman B. A. Merritt will regret to learn that he has been unable to be at his place of business for several days on account of illness. He is at his home and hopes to be able to be out again in a day or so. Illness prevented his attending the regular weekly session of Council Wednesday morning.

Rev. J. A. Clarke, who recently left Wilmington to assume the pastorate of the First Baptist church of High Point, writes the Biblical Recorder as follows: "Sunday was a great day with us at the First church. 425 in Sunday school, $77.30 for State missions. These figures are much in advance over those of last year, due to the untiring efforts of our superintendent, Mr. A. E. Tate, and his fine corps of officers and teachers. We have the finest superintendent in the State, and a Sunday school second to none. Pay us a visit and let us prove it to you. Sunday closed the first month of our work here. A full house has greeted the pastor at each service; an average of 107 was in attendance at the prayer meetings Wednesday nights; twelve additions to the church during the month,—and the greatest pounding any preacher ever had was given us just a few days ago. Our work is pleasant, and we are happy in it."

WEEK OF SOCIAL ACTIVITY FOR PRESBYTERIAN SCHOOL

This entire week is being observed as "Rally Week" in connection with the Sunday school of the First Presbyterian church.

Monday evening the superintendent gave a supper for the officers and teachers, which was thoroughly enjoyed by the entire teacher force. The S. T. S. class of young ladies was employed to serve the supper and they indeed proved to be first-class caterers. Many plans were discussed and definite steps taken for the winter work which has never been more promising than now. After dinner speeches, both serious and humorous, added to the occasion.

Tuesday evening the many organized classes of the school held social and rally meetings in as many places and perfected plans for their co-operation for Rally Day.

Wednesday evening the school joined with the regular weekly prayer meeting and despite the rainy night many were in attendance.

Thursday afternoon was the joint rally and social of the Cradle Roll, Beginnners and primary departments, with the mothers. The afternoon was very much enjoyed by all.

Thursday evening the Brotherhood Bible class held its social and rally in the church parlor. A splendid attendance and deep interest marked the meeting. Plans for a big revival in the class are under way.

Yesterday afternoon the Junior Department gathered for a social and rally in the social hall and with the co-operation of the junior teachers had a most enjoyable hour. The Juniors are planning full strength attendance on Rally Day next Sunday.

Tonight the general Sunday school social will be enjoyed. All members of the intermediate, senior and adult classes, and all the teachers and officers of the school are expected. Some new features in connection with a social will be introduced and a talk by the superintendent of the school will be given.

Saturday will be general visiting and round-up day when personal invitations for Rally Day will be given by the school members. A general invitation is extended to all those who are not attending regularly any other school to come with us and join our Bible study classes.

Sunday will be the grand Rally Day and the superintendent and officers are working hard to have an attendance of 200. To all the members who have just returned to the city, and to all the members of the church a most urgent invitation has been extended to be in place at 9:45 sharp.

To Improve Expression As Well As Complexion

No face is really beautiful that lacks expression. Do you realize that continual use of powders and creams tends to spoil pliancy of skin and elasticity of expression? Why not quit cosmetics, use something better, which won't clog the pores or make tthe skin dry, pasty or oily? Ordinary mercolized wax acts quite differently from any cosmetic. It wonderfully improves any complexion, giving it life and expression. By gradually, harmlessly peeling off the thin veil of surface skin, it brings to view a pure, soft spotless complexion, delicately beautiful and youthful. Every druggist has this wax; it is seldom more than an ounce is needed. It is spread on nightly like cold cream and washed off mornings. In a week or two the transformation is complete.

Wrinkles do not of course enhance the expression. Neither do the pasty things many use to eradicate them. A treatment free from all objection is made by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint of witch hazel; use as a wash lotion. This soon removes even the most obstinate wrinkles.

A Clear Skin is only a part of beauty; but it is a part. Every lady may have it, and easily, too. Just apply Hagan's MAGNOLIA BALM (Liquid Powder) It freshens and beautifies at once. Heals Sunburn and overcomes Tan. 75 cents at Druggists or by mail. Sample Free. Lyon Manufact'ng Co., 42 South Fifth Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Everybody Reads the Star Business Locals

THEATRICAL

When you see that great new show at the Victoria theatre today you will acknowledge that there seemingly is no end to the versatility of that all-star aggregation, the American Girls Company, which is pleasing so well at the Victoria this week.

Today the third great bill of the week goes on, a rousing musical comedy production entitled "Two Jolly Tourists," a comedy with scenes laid in a gay summer resort near Paris, France. It stars those inimitable comedy headliners, Earl and Root, in the best roles they have yet played; Lillian Ziegler and Mme. Fee Choo Choo, and all the rest of the aggregation in big roles.

Special scenery for this bill is the most appropriate and beautiful yet seen at the Victoria and the costumes are the niftiest ever presented here. This is another show with all big new song hits, the selections including "Pray for the Lights to Go Out," the great Broadway hit, a successor to the famous coon shout song, "Ballin' the Jack." This, as presented by Ray Lewis and chorus will literally bring down the house. Another novelty song hit is "Walking the Dog," the great dancing hit of the 1916 "Follies," presented by Scottie Freidell and chorus.

Paulina Glenmar will present her most famous dance, a "Spanish Dance Specialty," which is the very best dance in her repertoire, with beautiful costume. "Honoluiu Blues" by Miss Elsie Ziegler and chorus is another catchy number that will be well received, while Lillian Zeigler will present "My Own Iona," a beautiful new ballad, supported by the chorus. That famous "Zig Zag Trio" composed of Lewis, Root and Freidel, will also present a great new specialty.

Charlie Chaplin Tomorrow.

Charlie Chaplin in his latest comedy feature from Mutual entitled "One A. M." presents on the screen a large number of things that he did not learn from a correspondence school. It is rather well known that Mr. Chaplin is a young man of the most extreme sobriety, but "One A. M." leads one to believe that some time in his life Mr. Chaplin has observed somebody who drank. But we can lay aside the question of whether he got his dramatic material—the certainty is that he got it. It may be left to the judgment of the fastidious public whether or not Mr. Chaplin knows about those wierd fantasies and grotesque happenings which sleep in bottles and awake in glasses.

The writer has it on the authority of a number of persons who ought to know, that Mr. Chaplin can delineate with accuracy that rare and exotic state of mind and body known to science as "the stew" and variously otherwise termed "a skate", "spiffed", "pickled," "hardboiled," "ossified," "ori-eyed," "comfuscated," or "dazed." Those familiar with this glorious condition offer every assurance that Mr. Chaplin is histrionically correct. The writer of this article, while naturally conservative, is inclined to accept the opinion of experts, and will leave it to Grand patrons to judge tomorrow when this latest scream will be presented.

A thing of note is the fact that Charlie does it all by himself after the first few scenes, no one else appearing in the last 20 minutes of the production. That he succeeds in keeping any audience in an uproar all alone has been made the subject of many criticisms who hand him the palm for the greatest comedy of his career.

Double Bill at Grand.

It is a great double bill at the Grand today, one of the biggest bills of movies you ever had put up for your entertainment for the little, insignificant sum of five cents. It is a bill of movies the same as is being presented in other cities in North Carolina, notably Charlotte, Greensboro, Durham—in fact, every city of any consequence—at an admission price of ten cents.

The headliner, of course, is the seventh great chapter of "The Grip of Evil," that great Pathe serial starring Jackie Saunders, "The Maude Adams of the Screen", together with handsome, dashing Roland Bottomly, in the two leading roles, supported by an all-star aggregation of players. And it is indeed a great show, this great two reel chapter, entitled "Down to the Sea," as full of thrills as any two reels of motion pictures you ever saw.

The other great feature is one of the biggest two-reel Keystone-Triangle comedies of the entire year, "A Dash of Courage," starring that inimitable Keystone favorite, Charles Murray, with pretty Louise Fazenda playing opposite him. You don't want to miss this—a solid half hour of unholy laughter for everyone who sees it.

Big Five-Reel Bill—Bijou.

It is indeed a rare treat in today's mammoth five-reel bill to be presented at the Bijou, a mammoth all-star personally selected programme, every item of which was personally picked and booked by the management. You take no chances in future on the Bijou show, as nothing is now being booked except the very best productions.

The headliner on today's bill is a great three-reel Essanay super-drama, "The Way of Patience," starring that enchanting screen personality, Nell Craig, with Ernest Maupin and other Essanay favorites supporting her. For story, acting and photography this production deserves unstinted praise. The story is of a country Quaker maiden with a stern father, who flees from home to the city, finds there a worthy husband and flees from him back because she thinks he is too wild for her. You will enjoy every minute of its three reels.

The very latest episode of "The Hazards of Helen", starring daredevil Helen Gibson, is also on today's bill, and the big hair-raising situation in this reel sends the operator at Lone Point shooting under a moving train, while lying face down on an electric hand car. There is no doubt but that it is hair-raising and will almost lift you from your seat. It is one of the greatest yet, and is the very latest, having been released less than a week ago.

"Bumping the Bumps," the very latest Kalem Komedy starring those inimitable funmakers, Ham and Bud, is also on today's bill, bringing the grand total up to five great reels.

"The Good Bad Man"—Royal.

Today the Royal presents its first great screen drama from the Triangle Fine Arts Studios of David W. Griffith, a superb five-act super-drama, "The Good Bad Man", starring that great star of stage and screen, Douglas Fairbanks, with superb all-star Triangle supporting cast, one of the strongest dramas of the year, personally supervised and directed by the great David W. Griffith at the Fine Arts studios of the Triangle Film Corporation in Los Angeles, Cal.

In "The Good Bad Man" Griffith presents a combination of talent which is seldom equalled. Douglas Fairbanks with his enthusiasm, his personality and individuality, his swift moving action, plays the lead, while dainty, demure and beautiful little Bessie Love, one of the Triangle "darlings", plays the principal feminine part.

It is a rare combination, one that guarantees a dramatic production so far above the ordinary, even of Triangle productions, that there is no comparison. While strong in its dramatic interest, tense in its heart interest portions, and interesting all the way through, there are those subtle little touches of comedy which only Griffith knows how to inject; he who even found it possible to put humor into such a stupendous production as "The Birth of a Nation." It is a feature that no patron of the Royal should miss today.

DAVIDSON COLLEGE NOTES

Impressive Meetings Conducted by Mr. Hounshell—Dr. McConnell.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Davidson, N. C., Oct. 5.—With one of the strongest appeals for foreign missions ever heard on the Davidson campus, the fall campaign was brought to a close Sunday evening by Mr. C. G. Hounshell. Throughout the meetings the attendance was splendid, the interest in the work increasing with each service. These meetings were not on the order of an evangelistic campaign, weher one would expect a more open portrayal of spiritual excitement. Mr. Hounshell's manner of delivery was always of a quiet, non-emotional, yet impressive type, causing no undue spiritual excitement, but enabling the truths to sink deep into every heart with lasting effect.

Through President W. J. Martin's untiring efforts the release of Dr. J. W. McConnell seems almost certain. President Martin took this matter up with the secretary of war and also with President Wilson. Dr. McConnell has wired in his resignation as directed by the War Department and it is expected that he will be back here shortly.

As a result of a change in the home of Dr. D. Clay Lilly, formerly of Nashville, but now come to fill the pastorate vacated by Dr. Anderson, in Winston-Salem, his two sons arrived Monday to continue their studies here. They are here from Vanderbilt where they have attended one and two years, respectively.

Mr. Robert Smallwood, a well known architect of New York, and a Davidson alumnus, was here last week to discuss plans with Dr. Martin for the construction of the new $25,000 gymnasium. As soon as Mr. Smallwood completes the plans the work of building the gymnasium is expected to begin. The plans will be submitted to the executive committee this month, and they will also at that time decide the date for the beginning of the work.

TOGS for the Business Girl

by Hester Winthrop

A Pretty Evening Frock of Ciel Blue Taffeta and Net

This Topcoat a Model of Smartness

of Pale Gray Mohair this Summer Business Suit

A Semi-Formal Model of Blue and White Silk

Attractive Shirtwaist and Skirt

A Smart Sport Hat

Sport Clothes for Office Wear Must Not Be Too Sporty - Gray or Blue Mohair Smart and Admirably Cool for the All-Summer Suit - A Shirtwaist Season This, Luckily for the Business Girl - Play Clothes.

THE problem of the business woman in summer time is to select clothes that will be cool and comfortable in a sultry temperature yet not so airy and summery in character that they will look out of place on the street, or in the event of clouds and drizzling rain. In the vicinity of New York especially the weather is apt to change with disconcerting rapidity between dawn and dark. One may set forth at eight a. m. in a daintily cool white linen frock, white pumps and hat. At four there comes a thunder shower and at five-thirty one makes the journey home under a distressing downpour and over sloppy streets, clad in a pitiful, limp and bedraggled costume that looks the very worst of bad taste.

There are women who know instinctively just how to dress for all occasions and for any occupation and some of these women belong to the business world. They always look trim, neat, attractive and they never seem to make mistakes or wear the wrong thing at the wrong time. But on the other hand, if one comes to think of it, they never look airy, fluffy and coquettish in costume. They leave feminine fripperies of dress to women of leisure and the workaday costume, smart and perfectly tailored as it may be, is suitable for whatever sort of weather it may encounter during the business day and during the trip to and from the office.

Sport Clothes in the Business World.

This year sport raiment occupies a large place in woman's dress ideals. On every hand are displayed fascinating sport wearables, short, jaunty skirts, boyish coats, picturesque, becoming hats—all in delightful color harmonies or in striking, dashing color contrasts. But these fetching wearables will not be worn by the business women who have a reputation for good dressing—and in whose clever little heads are the level brains that will be earning the bigger salaries of next year and the year after. Tennis togs are adorable, truly, and so are yachting togs—so for the matter of that are bathing suits and dancing frocks. But none of these delectable garments are for the office.

Sport togs cover a wide field, however. They range from the severely utilitarian to the ultra frivolous and fanciful, and in this sport toggery field there are plenty of gleanings for the girl who has discrimination. It is best to leave bright colors alone; what is altogether charming against the sea or a woodsy background will be rather alarmingly bizarre against the dusty glass partitions of an office. But the well-cut sport skirt of linen crash or serge companioned by a tailored sport blouse will be perfectly correct for office wear.

A Shirtwaist Summer.

Skirts and separate waists are very much the vogue this season—which is vastly pleasing to the business girl who knows the value of a freshly laundered shirtwaist with separate skirt as a solid standby for office wear. An admirable combination in this line is pictured. The skirt, of striped blue and white serge is simplicity itself, and the diagonal arrangement of stripes is individual and smart. There are four circular gores and side pockets slashed into the material and then buttoned flat. The wide belt matching the skirt is very neat and trim. The blouse in this instance is of tan-colored cotton batiste with collar and cuffs of handkerchief linen, the cuffs fastening with loops and buttons so that they may be slipped up on the arm when the office regime calls for a messy job like pasting or mimeographing. This well-equipped little business maid wears a shady but not unduly picturesque sport hat of brown milan with a band and bow of ribbon; her low-heeled sport shoes are of white washable kid which may be sponged off in a twinkling at any time with a damp cloth.

Another sport hat, suitable for office wear, and attractive enough for the Saturday afternoon outing, is pictured. This hat is a wide-brimmed sailor shape of green hemp with white grosgrain ribbon turned over the edge of the brim and tacked in ripples, and two folded bands of the ribbon around the high crown. The ornament at the front is of pleated green ribbon.

A sport skirt of tan linen crash, smartly cut and trimmed with pearl buttons, and accompanied by a cool blouse of tan batiste like the one just described, should make an ideal costume for a warm mid-summer day. In the event of an afternoon downpour, the tan crash skirt will not take on the hopeless, bedraggled look of a white skirt—indeed a white costume is seldom a wise choice for the office, unless one lives near the place of business and a day's weather changes do not so much matter. The woman who feels and looks best in fresh white in summer time may manage her favorite type of costume if she possesses a long, not too heavy topcoat for wear on train or other conveyance and if she accompanies the white frock with dark footwear and hat. Somehow the lily-white, bride-like effect of white frock, white hat, white parasol and white boots is not quite pleasing to the aesthetic sense in an office connection.

A Topcoat the Standby.

This brings us to the matter of the office girl's topcoat. If she is a canny business woman she will have this topcoat, whatever else she does without. It will solve the eternal controversy between summer frocks and possible showers. If it rains, the coat will cover one up. If the sun shines warmly, the coat may be carried over the arm. Such a coat may be of light worsted, wool jersey, mohair and worsted combination or pongee. It should not be of taffeta or of satin and the business woman of taste will not trim it with marabout or shirred ruffles. Pongee coats are particularly light and cool to wear in mid-summer, but they do not give much warmth as the season advances into cooler evenings and the girl who can own but one coat usually selects one of wool weave. The pictured topcoat is smart and it is business-like. The material is green and brown checked worsted and the cut is dashing and pleasing. This business girl wears her topcoat over a white linen frock. Her boots are tan and her hat in shades of tan, brown and white.

Mohair is such an altogether desirable material for summer business wear that it is remarkable all business women do not adopt it. If this were so, however, the individual mohair costumes one sees would not be so smart. The suit pictured is of light gray mohair with white pearl buttons on the youthful, belted jacket and a turnover collar of washable white kid. The coat has a boyish suggestion that is charming and the skirt, pleated at the sides, has sufficient flare without any effect of extremeness. White gloves match the snowy collar and the buttoned boots of gray glazed kid match the suit. The sailor hat is trimmed with white and mauve ribbon.

For Saturday.

There is an unwritten law in every business office that gala attire shall be permitted every feminine employee on Saturday morning. After lunch there will be no time to go home and dress, and of course Saturday afternoon is a fete occasion. So the business girl wears her best on Saturday and no one says her nay. Indeed her demurely unconscious gala appearance often reminds her employer that this is Saturday; that most firms close at noon on this day; that the employer who refuses to be amenable in this respect would be beneath contempt. None of this is said, of course, but a pretty frock of a Saturday morning has had its psychological effect in more cases than one, you may be sure. A very pretty Saturday morning frock is the model of blue Georgette and dotted foulard. The revers are of plain blue silk and the sleeves lace up with blue velvet ribbon. The pumps of white and blue glazed kid are worn with biscuit-colored silk stockings.

The dance frock is suggested as a model easy to copy at home. The skirt is made of silver bordered net, the pleated, slashed overskirt and little pleated bodice of ciel blue taffeta. This bodice-pleating is caught up on a guimpe of gathered white tulle and the gathered tulle is draped over a sleeveless, fitted lining of white net.

The Summer Glove Problem

HOW fortunate it is, since one must wear gloves in summer time, that there are so many sorts of cool, comfortable summer gloves! No wonder, in the long-ago days when fabric gloves were unknown that femininity refused to wear leather gauntlets in warm weather and took to mitts.

The well-dressed woman admits the necessity of gloves, even on warmest mid-summer days, for nothing gives such a forlorn and carelessly groomed suggestion as missing gloves, when the costume is of a sort to demand them. Gloves carried in the hand have an even more limply depressing air and if one simply cannot endure any covering on the hands in sultry weather it is better to leave the gloves at home and face the world blithely without them, than to carry them about, crushed and wilted looking in a warm hand. But sometimes gloves actually make one feel cooler on a very hot day and there is a psychological reason for this. The woman who feels that she looks cool, has a serene poise that actually makes her feel ten degrees cooler than the flustered woman who knows that her hair is hanging in stringy wisps because she thought it too hot to wear a veil, and whose moist, bare hands are uncovered by gloves. Wear gloves by all means—the thinnest, silkiest sort you have, if you wish to look smart.

Very smartly dressed women are not seen even in the unbearable dog-day weather of August, without gloves—when the type of costume worn calls for gloves. And somehow or other they manage to look cool, comfortable, well-groomed to the last detail, in their trig veils, fresh gloves and even feather neckpieces, the despair of envious other women who wonder how they do it. This summer gloves with the sports costume are a fad—not merely with the handsome white serge tailleur accompanied by high-heeled buttoned boots, expensive hat and parasol, dubbed by convention "sports costume," but also with the rough and ready sport skirt and coat in which the athletic woman runs about in the country. Such gloves are mannish, one-button affairs of buff chamois or heavy kid and are worn unfastened, with the top turned carelessly back at the wrist. A new fabric glove for golf and motoring is called the fielder glove. It is easy to draw on and off and fastens with a strap and button at the wrist. The palm is reinforced with a section of colored glazed kid and the stitching on the back of the glove matches this color. These gloves are of substantial weave with stoutly reinforced fingers; some women use them for horseback riding and for sailboat or motorboat use when there is handling of tiller, sheet or wheel in prospect.

Gauntlet gloves for motoring, easy in fit and easy to don.

Of daintier type are the novelty

New sport gloves in black and white combination and in heavy silk weave.

gloves of silk with heavy silk stitching on the back and sections in contrasting color set between the fingers. Light tan and biscuit tinted gloves mark the last word in style just now and give a more distinguished effect than white gloves with any costume but a pure white one. There are silk gloves, also, with narrow pleated frills, black, navy or self-colored, edging the wrist and running down the opening on the inner side. These gloves are very dainty and the frills are not wide enough to give an effect of clumsiness.

With the incoming elbow sleeve, beautifully fitting embroidered silk gloves return to favor.

Now that elbow sleeves are fashionable again, women are beginning to take fresh interest in long-wristed silk gloves, for these are the only possible kind for mid-summer wear with thin afternoon and restaurant frocks. Gloves are not worn with the dancing frock even when it possesses no sleeves at all; the formal afternoon frock, however, or the restaurant frock accompanied by a hat demands the formality of gloves. These long-wristed embroidered silk gloves come in white, pearl, ivory, fawn, flesh and other delicate shades as well as in the practical black and navy.

Black kid gloves with white stitching are considered smarter than tan gloves with wool tailleurs of dark color, and some women noted for their smart attire, wear black gloves and black hat with topcoats of pale tan. Boots need not necessarily match gloves, however; indeed the black boot is rarely seen nowadays, the fashionable model, usually in buttoned type, having a vamp of glazed kid in a color matching the costume, and a tall top in fawn, gray or ivory white. With the white tailleur of course white gloves and white boots—these usually of washable kid—are de rigeur.

Silk gloves must be washed carefully in lukewarm water and a flat-iron must never touch them. After several rinsings in clear water they should be squeezed (not wrung) dry and then hung up in a current of air. Never hang anything made of silk in strong sunlight. Wooden drying frames which cost but a trifle will keep the gloves daintily in shape while they dry.

COTTON PRICES UNSETTLED

New High Records For Season Made at Opening But Prices Drop Under Heavy Realizing.

New York, Oct. 5.—The cotton market was very active during the greater part of today's trading and prices made new high records for the season at the opening, with January selling at 18.22, or 58 points above the low level reached on the reaction of last Tuesday. Realizing was extremely heavy, however, and reactions followed with January selling off to 17.00 and closing at 17.07. The general list closed irregular and unsettled, net one point higher to 13 points lower. October was higher while later months were 2 to 13 points under last night's closing figures.

First prices were steady on an opening demand, net unchanged to 10 points higher. All the active positions sold about 8 to 12 points above last night's close, either on or immediately following the call, but the advance of nearly $3 per bale from the low level of Tuesday evidently attracted very heavy selling for profits. There was also extensive realizing. Prices gradually eased off until the active positions were 11 to 15 points under last night's closing figures. At this level the selling seemed to subside somewhat and there were rallies of several points early in the afternoon, but the improvement was not maintained, and the tone was unsettled during the afternoon. December declined from 17.15 to 16.95 while March sold off from 17.43 to 17.17. Closing prices were a few points up from the loss on covering by early sellers.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

Prices Go to New High Levels For Season, But Later Fall Off.

New Orleans, Oct. 5.—Although cotton prices went to new high levels for the season here today, the market did not show any sustained strength and much of the time was under pressure from realizing sales. Selling was heaviest late in the session, when prices were put 5 to 7 points under yesterday's close. Last prices were at a net loss of 4 to 6 points.

In the early trading the tone was very steady, the result of better cables than due, the larger export movement, and frost predictions in the western belt. At the highest, trading months were 10 to 12 points over yesterday's final quotations and March touched 17 cents.

Heavy selling orders reached the market at its highest and offerings were liberal from the middle of the morning on. The market had a steady tone at the decline, but made only faint recoveries. Steadiness was due chiefly to bullish talk regarding exports which thus far this week amount to 156,502 bales against 114,801 during the same period last year.

Closing bids: October, 16.30; December, 16.50; January, 16.62; March, 16.85; May, 17.07.

Spot cotton steady and unchanged. Sales on the spot 1,605; to arrive, 2,595; middling, 16.13.

RAILS CONTINUE TO GAIN

Cotton Carriers Especially Distinguished By Further Heavy Advances—Varied Dealings.

New York, October 5.—In today's stock market on its turnover of 1,360,000 shares, more separate issues were dealt in than during any season of the protracted rise.

Rails again afforded a stable basis in the forenoon, cotton carriers being especially distinguished by the further extreme gain of 3 1-2 points in Louisville and Nashville, with 1 to 2 points in Seaboard preferred, Southern Railway, Kansas City Southern preferred, the several Toledo, St. Louis and Western issues, Western Maryland's and Rock Island.

Many of these stocks recorded best prices since the middle of 1914, and Norfolk and Western at 145 1-4 duplicated its record. Lehigh Valley registered its highest price in four years and others, notably the Pacifics, Grangers and New York Central, showed marked strength, though falling away on realizing sales later.

Coppers and other metals showed activity and strength and leading munitions, equipments and motors scores gross gains of 1 to 4 points. There was an unusual inquiry for shares of the Chemical companies, chief among these being Barrett, General Chemical and American Agricultural Chemical.

Sugars were active at intervals, with new records for American Beet nad Cuba cane at 99 1-2 and 67 1-2, respectively, while Central Leather reached a new high level at 80 and American Woolen gained 3 1-2. United States Steel was again a negligible factor, though exhibiting more firmness.

Bonds were strong on wider operations. Total sales, par value, $7,470,000. United States unchanged on call.

BAPTIST MEETING ADJOURNS

Wilmington Association Holds Successful Annual Session—May Secure Evangelist.

Delegates from Wilmington to the annual meeting of the Wilmington Baptist Association, which closed a successful session yesterday afternoon, returned to the city last night. Some 25 members of local churches, including the three Wilmington pastors, were in attendance at the meeting, which was held at Wallace. According to all accounts, the attendance was greater than at any previous meeting of the association. The Riverside church, near Ashton, was selected as the next place of meeting.

One of the most important matters on which action was taken at the closing session was submission of a motion, which prevailed, to secure for the association the services of an evangelist to assist various local churches belonging to the association in the conduct of revival services. Although it was not voted to have the evangelist appointed at once, the matter was referred to the executive committee with full power to act.

There was considerable discussion as to whether an evangelist should be appointed at once or the matter delayed until the end of the year. As the matter now stands, the committee may name a man to the office at once or wait until the end of the year. It is believed that the committee will pursue the latter course and in the meantime look about the State for an evangelist capable of carrying on this important work.

Among the features of the afternoon session yesterday was an inspiring address on the subject of "Christian Education," by Rev. Dr. John Jeter Hurt, pastor of the First Baptist church of this city, and president of the State Board of Education of the Baptist State Convention; an address on "Education," by Dr. Charles E. Brewer, of Meredith College, Raleigh; an address by Rev. W. N. Johnson, secretary of the Baptist State Mission Board, of Raleigh, and a report on the work of the Dell School, at Delway, by Principal L. B. Olive.

At the morning session Rev. J. A. Sullivan, pastor of Calvary Baptist church, of Wilmington, led the discussion on associational topics, and Wednesday morning Mr. Sullivan made the report on Home Missions. Rev. W. G. Hall on Wednesday morning made the report of the work of Sunday schools.

HIGH TRIBUTE PAID FOR LIGHT INFANTRY

a member when the W. L. I. was also a part of the volunteer fire service. It had always been ready to respond to every service. He explained that the building up of the National Guard has been a process of evolution and that W. L. I. has kept at the front.

"I am satisfied," said he, "that there has never been an organization in Wilmington and never will be one that is more beloved than the W. L. I. The people of the city are more loyal to it than any other."

Col. Taylor declared that it is mighty near criminal for a young man in this day and time not to take advantage of the training afforded by the National Guard. He had sent his son to Plattsburg for military training last summer and should be come back to Wilmington after completing his college course Col. Taylor declared amidst applause that one of the first things he was going to do was to insist that he join the W. L. I. He spoke of the fact that the National Guard is now a business affair and not a frolicsome matter.

Chairman W. A. McGirt, of the Board of Commissioners, paid a tribute to the efficient service that the W. L. I. has always not only rendered but stood ready to render. "You not only stand for law and order but you are ready to enforce it, should occasion demand, he declared, "and it is upon you that this community relies as upon a strong arm."

He spoke of the necessity of having protection in times of war and thought the young men composing the W. L. I. are setting a fine example. He was glad to be present on this occasion.

Other Addresses Made.

Maj. E. A. Metts, former captain of the company, assured the "boys" that they could always count on him for any service he could render. He suggested that a programme of education should be started with the idea of acquainting the business men of the city of allowing their employes to serve in the W. L. I. He explained the provisions of the new Federal law.

Mr. McC. B. Williams spoke of the reasons why employers should encourage their employes to give time to military service, pointing out that first of all it encouraged the patriotism of the employers and in the second place provided a means of relaxation and a training that would make the men more loyal, more efficient and better workers. The men needed are those who will have to make a sacrifice, he declared.

Col. C. H. White, a veteran of the Spanish-American war, made a rousing speech which came straight from the heart. The W. L. I. had ever stood ready for service, dating back to '61 when every man in the company became an officer, through the stirring days of '98. "I only wish I had a boy to give to the service of this company," he shouted as the entire audience rose and cheered him. "My heart is with you, boys, and may God bless you," he said as he sat down and there was not one present who did not realize that he meant it—every word.

Capt. R. N. Sweet, who was introduced as the only living honorary member of the company, disclaimed that honor, stating that he had only recently received a letter from Mr. George W. Bailey, who is also an honorary member.

Mr. R. A. Parsley, a member of the Reserve Corps, and Lieuts. E. H. Holmes and Owen C. Fillyaw, made short speeches.

The committee in charge of the arrangements for the banquet was composed of Messrs. J. W. Rutland, chairman; J. S. LeMoyne, J. H. Hayden and W. K. Gaylor.

A wise man to provide for the future will keep in the house a bottle of Dr. SETH ARNOLD'S BALSAM for sudden attacks of Bowel Complaints. Warranted by Elvington's Pharmacy.

election of officers, was devoted to the reading of the minutes and the reports of the heads of some of the various departments, including those of the anti-narcotics, Loyal Temperance Union, Young People's Branch, and literature.

In the afternoon the reports were received from the committees on proportionate and systematic giving, prison and jails, peace and arbitration, medal contests, Sabbath observance and State and National papers.

The evening programme was devoted principally to music and recitations. One of the most impressive features was the demonstration by 19 girls of the advances made by prohibition. Each girl wore a banner or streamer denoting the name of some prohibition state. Each recited a verse telling when their individual State went dry. When North Carolina was reached the entire 19 joined in reciting the celebrated Tar Heel toast, "Here's to the land of the long leaf pine," and in flourishing small pine boughs.

At the conclusion of the recitations they joined in a prohibition chorus, after which another smaller girl gave a recitation imploring the seven states who will make a fight on election day for prohibition, to win their battle.

Rev. Dr. John Jeter Hurt, pastor of the First Baptist church, where the convention has been in session, was present and was called on for a few remarks. He stated that he had been out of the city since the convention had been in session, but cordially welcomed them to the city and church.

Mrs. Hutchins, of Salisbury, exhibited something like $18 in pennies which she stated were to be the nucleus of a mile of pennies, that she was raising for the W. C. T. U.

A vote of thanks was extended to the press of the city, the choirs of the First Presbyterian and Grace Methodist churches, the ladies who entertained the delegates, the Rotary Club, the young people who assisted in the services, and the First Baptist church.

Speaking for the Union, Mrs. Goodno said that the delegates had greatly enjoyed their stay in Wilmington, but that for a dry town it certainly gave them two mighty wet days for their convention.

A selected choir, under the direction of Miss Cannie Chasten rendered the music for the evening. Rev. M. T. Plyler, pastor of Grace Methodist church, read the scripture lesson, and Rev. Dr. John Jeter Hurt, pastor of the First Baptist church, pronounced the benediction.

LIBEL ALLEGED IN SUIT ENTERED BY JEREMIAH O'LEARY

he has not enforced American rights against Great Britain is disloyalty.

"I also resent the hideous imputation contained in his statement that any man running for a public office could repudiate my vote, or the votes of millions of my fellow citizens who think as I do.

"A citizen's loyalty to his country is not a proper part of a political campaign, and, therefore, I feel that it is wrong to assert it politically because it strikes at the fundamentals of our citizenship.

"What right would Charles E. Hughes have to repudiate me? What right has he to repudiate any voter who would vote for him? I yield to Mr. McCormick his right to support Mr. Wilson and to vote for Mr. Wilson, and no matter how faithless I believe Mr. Wilson has been in protecting American lives, property and commerce, I would never assert that he was disloyal because he supported Mr. Wilson and differed from Mr. Hughes."

May Also Sue Newspapers.

John R. Jones, attorney for Mr. O'Leary, declared that Mr. O'Leary also intends to begin other libel suits against newspapers throughout the country who have questioned his right and abused him for sending what he considered to be a perfectly proper telegram to the President of the United States.

PRESIDENT IS GREETED AT OMAHA BY LARGEST CROWDS SINCE HE WAS INAUGURATED

On the eastern coast there are still felt more vividly, I dare say, than you feel them, the influence of the old world of Europe.

"Not a single stock of Europe has failed to contribute to the variety of America and out of this varied stock we have to compound something that is now part European and is only a part and is an intensified part of America which we love. We have a programme for America in respect of its domestic life and we shall not forget that programme but we have never yet sufficiently formulated our programme for America with regard to the part she is going to play in the world and it is imperative that she should formulate it at once."

NERVY NEGRO BURGLAR PUTS BOY OUT OF HIS OWN HOME.

Richard Kershaw Has Odd Experience With Robber on Returning Home.

"Nervy Nat" of the comic supplement was not in it compared with the negro burglar who visited the home of Richard Kershaw Wednesday night.

Richard, who is a boy of about 15 years of age, returned to his home, No. 418 South Fourth street, about 6 o'clock. When he attempted to enter the front door, the burglar who was on the inside, grabbed him and shoved him out, at the same time slamming the door and turning the key in the lock.

Somewhat taken aback by these tactics, Richard decided to enlist the aid of the members of the police department. Re-inforced by a couple of blue coats, he returned to the house. Crawling in the window, he saw nothing of the burglar, but found where he had been interrupted in making a meal off of apple pie, about a quarter of one pie had been bitten out at one mouthful, while a whole half of a ham had also disappeared from the kitchen.

After the police had left the premises, thinking the negro had made his escape, Richard armed with a revolver of the Owl-head variety and with the assistance of a playmate, continued the search until he discovered the negro hiding under the house. Just as the latter slipped from under the house, Richard fired at the negro but missed his target. The negro only ran faster and disappeared around a corner.
